

CURRENT COMMENT
By Chester H. Rowell

FRANK H. Simonds has an article which he intends to be alarming, in the Current Review of Reviews, on European hatred of America. He says that the feeling in England is not so much hatred as contempt, but that on the Continent it is one of violent hostility. This, in spite of the fact that Mr. Simonds is a received nothing but the most cordial personal treatment. He also does not concede that the feeling is justified. But he does emphasize that it exists, and he urges that we should care.

THAT is, of course, the final difficulty. Americans do not care. Most of them are not even interested. "Why do you bore people by writing of international matters, or of efficiency in government at home?" said a friendly critic to this writer. "Newspaper readers are not interested in such things. They are interested in 'Peaches.' Why don't you write about that? Doubtless the critic was correct. If one is to interest people, he should write about 'Peaches,' or whoever else is the sex-scandal of the moment. And most of the Americans who do give the matter a moment's thought are satisfied with the reflection that naturally those who owe debts do not love the creditor who exacts payment. But that is no reason for forgiving our debtors."

EUROPEANS doubtless do dislike us, as underpaid workmen hate their employers; as rack-rented tenants hate the landlord; as bankrupt farmers hate the banks; as people in time of depression vote "agin the government." That is universal human nature. But what have industrial employers, business men and bankers done about it? They have organized departments of industrial relations or of public relations. They tried first "welfare work," and when they found that resented, they devised better ways of employee and customer co-operation. They have cultivated good will as an asset. And they have found it paid.

IN BUSINESS that was relatively easy. No one in business could be ignorant of the fact that he had employees, customers and clients and that they were important to him. In politics it is harder. Small as the world has grown, it is not yet small enough to be within the horizon of most of our interests. We scarcely know, and we do not care at all, what is going on across the sea. The attempt to do so, during the war, stretched our imaginations beyond their limit of elasticity, and they promptly snapped back to their old limits or less. We do not know, and we do not care.

BUT has not the time come when we must begin to care again? There is a limit to reaction, as well as to action. If we were stretched too tight, during the war, we have been too flabby, too long, now. The need of re-arming American public interest has been evident for some time, to those who had eyes that saw, and ears that heard. It is not a new thing, but it is not needed, but possible. The American people are not stupid. They can learn when they care. The hard task is to stir them to care.

THIS harvest of ill will throughout the world—contempt and hatred in Europe, suspicion in Latin-America, bitterness in Japan, resentment in China, hostility in Russia, and general bewilderment everywhere is important. And it is not inevitable. Pre-war Germany did not have to isolate itself in the world's hostility. Least of all does post-war America need to follow that example. It is not enough to satisfy ourselves that we are right, and the world is wrong. Germany thought that too. And Germany paid dearer than we are ever likely to pay to learn better. But we shall not learn clearly enough if we do not learn.

THE only obstacles are ignorance and indifference. And the least of these is ignorance. There is no evil so easily curable as that. But nobody learns until he first cares. There are symptoms that we are beginning to care. Assemble any group in any community in America composed of those whom that community is accustomed to regard as its leaders; those who know most and are best trusted. You will find that most of them do care, very intensely. The best thought of America is already aroused. If it were not for our demagogues, who play on popular prejudice and ignorance for their own advancement, there would be less barrier between this already-aroused thought of the best informed and the still-indifferent majority.

4 Arrested in Laguna Rum Raid

MAN MISSING AFTER SHOTS IN SEA FIGHT

County Officers and Federal Agents Co-operate Against Liquor Runners

WOMAN IS LOOKOUT

Attempt to Land Cargo of Smuggled Booze Balked; Whiskey Ships Get Away

A SPECTACULAR gun fight, an important capture of contraband liquor and smugglers, and a mystery surrounding the possible death or escape of one bandit, followed an ill-starred attempt by rum runners to land a cargo under a hail of bullets at Laguna Beach, early today.

Four men, including one suspected leader of a gigantic liquor ring, and 27 cases of Scotch whiskey were bagged when two squads of officers surprised the smugglers and attacked simultaneously from land and sea.

A fifth man disappeared suddenly from the smugglers' boat during the battle, leaving his fate an unsolved puzzle. Whether he was shot or fell from the boat and drowned, or swam to freedom, has not been determined by searches who patrolled the coast line today.

The search also turned toward discovery of a mysterious woman sentinel, who, from a tall cliff, cried a belated warning to her confederates in the boat. She and a male companion made their escape during the melee in the breakers. Two other rum boats also escaped, by outspeeding the slower government craft. The largest rum boat, according to information reaching the officers, was said to contain 11,000 cases of liquor.

Caught between the withering rifle fire of federal and county officers, the band of smugglers in the landing dory offered stubborn resistance. For a half hour, the darkness was pierced by red flashes from two government coast guard cutters off shore and the officers on the beach, with the smugglers unarmed and finding their escape cut off, surrendered at the water's edge. In the darkness, marksmanship had been handicapped and the four captives emerged unharmed. They gave their names as George Harper, 27, of Los Angeles; Fred Winters, 25, Stewart hotel, Los Angeles; Antonio Tello, 40, of San Pedro, and Jack Cunningham, 44, of Laguna Beach. George Contreras, chief of the district attorney's prohibition squad, in Los Angeles, declared that Harper is really George Margolis, reputed king of the Los Angeles liquor traffic. With the recent collapse of the Shuvelier and Conero gangs, Margolis is probably the leading liquor baron of Southern California, Contreras said.

Mal Reynolds, director of the government's prohibition forces in Southern California, was in charge of the two coast guard cutters participating in the capture. Frank E. Benedict, assistant administrator of the prohibition department, had charge of the land forces, assisted by Contreras and Captain Beal, chief of the vice squad in the Pasadena police department.

The federal, backed by several of Sheriff Sam Jernigan's deputies, waited in the shadow of a cliff at Laguna Beach for several hours last night, watching for the appearance of the rum runners. A tip had reached the officers several days ago. At 1:30 a. m., today, they saw a dory, a speed boat and a rum runner approach the coast.

SEDITION IN PORTUGAL PUT DOWN WITH SURRENDER OF REBEL FORCES IN LISBON

(By United Press)
LISBON, Feb. 10.—Sixty known dead in Lisbon and probably 150 dead in Oporto today were reckoned as the greatest cost of the revolution against the Carmona dictatorship, which the government this morning announced had been suppressed. It was estimated that 850 persons had been wounded in Oporto and Lisbon, 500 of the injuries having been reported in the capital. The Argentine consulate was among the many buildings damaged by gunfire at Lisbon.

LISBON, Feb. 10.—The revolutionists surrendered at Lisbon, at 8 o'clock, last night, and the government reported it had suppressed sedition throughout the country. The Lisbon revolutionary committee communicated to the government its surrender. Two hours later, the committee was arrested.

The rebels surrendered during the bombardment of the government troops of the marine arsenal, the last stand of the rebels. After the surrender, the night was quiet and today commercial life in the capital was resumed. The telephone office, which had been closed since Monday evening, opened again and accepted messages.

The rebels at Oporto surrendered unconditionally Monday, at 2 p. m., and the government forces, reinforced by troops from the steamship Infante Sagres, penetrated the rebel stronghold and routed the defenders. It was reported that 120 civilians were among the killed and a vast number was wounded. The rebel leaders, Moraes and Cortez, were reported to have committed suicide when they found their cause hopeless. Details of the casualties were contradictory. One report said the first regiment of cavalry lost 35 men in storming the rebel stronghold. Oporto was entirely in the government's hands at 4 p. m., Monday.

Rich Slayer Said to Have Had $800 in Cell to Aid in Escape

(By United Press)
JOLIET, Ill., Feb. 10.—The name of Nathan Leopold, millionaire thrill slayer of Bobby Franks, today was again brought into the escape of six prisoners from the state penitentiary—an escape that resulted in the murder of Deputy Warden Klein, as the six men began a new attempt for their own lives.

The six—Charles Duschowski, Bernardo Rosa, Charles Shader, Walter Stalesky, Robert Torrez and Gregorio Rizo—were to have been hanged tomorrow, but yesterday they fled appeals for a new trial before the circuit court. The execution was continued to March 4, as the result of this new move. Immediately thereafter, Duschowski called authorities and again implicated Leopold's name in connection with the escape, early last summer. He charged that Leopold had $800 in cash in his cell at the time of the escape—a fund to be used expressly for the escape.

Duschowski said the only reason Leopold did not escape with the other convicts was that the prisoners did not have a key to Leopold's cell.

Killer Sentenced To Hang April 22

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 10.—Od Cornell, convicted murderer of his stepdaughter, Fairy Gerase, and accused slayer of his wife, Fairy Cornell, today was on his way to San Quentin penitentiary, where he is scheduled to hang April 22. Cornell's appeal to the supreme court probably will necessitate a delay in the date of the execution, however.

RUSSIA SENDS GUNS

Soviet Government Ships 35,000 Rifles, Ammunition from Vladivostok

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The U. S. S. Pecos, with 258 marines, arrived at Shanghai, yesterday, from Cavite, Philippine islands, the navy department announced today. The marines will await further orders from Adm. Clarence S. Williams, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet.

(By United Press)
LONDON, Feb. 10.—Three hundred U. S. marines arrived at Shanghai today, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch said. The cabinet of the North China government has decided to ignore Secretary of State Kellogg's proposal to the Chinese powers that the international settlement in Shanghai be neutralized, a Daily News dispatch from Peking says today.

Reports from Japan, according to the dispatch, said that the Russian government had sent munitions to Canton from Vladivostok, including 35,000 rifles, more than a million rounds of ammunition, 60 machine-guns and three other guns. Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, announced in the house of commons today that Owen O'Malley, British representative, and Eugene Chen, foreign minister of the Cantonese government, had reached an agreement at Hankow regarding the dispute over the foreign concession at Hankow.

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Feb. 10.—Fire, starting from an overhated stove, caused the deaths of five children at Rudyard, near here, today. Three of the children were burned to death as they lay in their beds. Harry Trimble, his wife and one child made their way out of the flaming house, after a heroic attempt to save the other children.

The fire had practically gutted the lower floor of the house before the Trimble family were awakened. The father picked up Margaret, 8, and Robert, 5, and ran down the stairs. He tripped and the children were thrown into the flames. The mother, with a 3-year-old child in her arms, leaped from an upstairs window into a snow bank. The bodies of three other children were found in their beds after the flames had been extinguished.

NORTHERNERS DECLARE WAR ON CANTONESE

PEKING, Feb. 10.—Marshal Chang Tso Lin, most powerful of the North China allies, today declared active war against the Cantonese Nationalists from South China. Chang today issued a circular telegram, in which he announced that he was weary of waiting for Marshal Wu Pei Fu to act effectively against the Cantonese. Chang would send his own Manchurian troops into the province of Honan, across the Whangho river, and through Wu's lines to attack the Cantonese.

Wu Pei Fu is incapable and lacks ability, said Chang, in announcing his intention to send an army southward. The province of Honan lies north of the province of Hupeh and south of the province of Pechili, in which Peking is situated. Some months ago, the Cantonese advanced into Hupeh and drove Wu from its principal cities, Hankow, Wu Chang and Hanyang, and subsequently the Nationalist capital was established at those three cities, which lie side by side, separated by the junction of the Han and Yangtze rivers. Chang has been in control of Peking and the province in which it is situated, since last summer, when his troops compelled the army of Feng Yu Hsiang, the Christian general, to retreat northward beyond Kalgan toward inner Mongolia.

BRITAIN OPPOSED TO LEAGUE INTERVENTION

GENEVA, Feb. 10.—Britain does not deem the present moment favorable for League of Nations intervention in the China dispute, a communication, received from Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, informed the secretariat today. The 20-page document explained Britain's policy in China and insisted that it was in harmony with the principles set down in the covenant of the League of Nations. If an opportunity later should arise for League intervention, Chamberlain said, Britain would work with the League.

TOKIO, Feb. 10.—One hundred and three persons have been killed and 10 today were reported missing in the prefectures of Niigata, Toyama and Fukui, where unprecedented snowfall has occurred during the last three days. The prefecture at Niigata was surrounded by 20 feet of snow. Entire houses were buried under drifts or snow-slides from the mountains. The government was sending regiments of troops to aid in the rescue work.

SHANNON ALONE IN MURDER OF LAGE. BELIEF

Alleged Slayer, Arrested In Salt Lake, Bares Career of Crime

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 10.—Governor Young is prepared to sign requisition papers for the extradition of Willard Shannon under arrest at Salt Lake City for the murder of Harold W. Lage, immediately upon the arrival of Sheriff Ducret and District Attorney Ralph Magee, of Amador county, it was announced at the governor's office today.

(By United Press)
SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 10.—Willard C. Shannon, alias Riley, was alone in the murder of Harold W. Lage, Stockton automobile salesman, and Shannon's story of two pals, who, he claims, did the actual killing, is fiction, local police were convinced, after a further interview today with the suspected murderer, held here. Chief of Police Joseph E. Burdige held a brief interview with Shannon this morning, in an endeavor to get some intimation as to the identity of his supposed accomplices.

"When you play the crime game you are gambling with death. If you lose, it is up to you to be a good loser." This is the fatalistic philosophy of Shannon. It was brought out when the chief of police informed him that any statements he might make about the death of Lage might be used against him later.

Admits He Is Criminal
Shannon is classed by the police here as a professional forger and there are strong indications that he is a drug addict. The police say that he learned early in life that it was easy to "make money" by putting over forged checks and he has been at this game ever since.

Shannon diverged from his usual line of criminal operation in the California crime and the "job" was bungled, resulting in the death of Lage, and Shannon, sees the hangman's noose dangling in the future for him. Shannon is loquacious and inclined to be boastful. He told the chief of police that the stakes "in the little game which I sought to pull at Jackson" were $100,000 which was to have been paid on a mining deal. He said he and two companions decided to get the over-congress failure to pass Boulder dam legislation and they suspected large power interests of blocking passage. Dr. William H. Walker, a member of the California Boulder dam delegation, told President Coolidge today.

"If the power trust is running the United States, it is high time that the American people know of it," Walker said, after the conference. "This bill should have been pushed through congress long ago, and only undue interference has withheld its passage."

PRESIDENT PROPOSES CUT IN CRUISERS, SUBMARINES, DESTROYERS BE DISCUSSED

Executive Suggests to Foreign Governments That Subject Be Taken Up at Conference In Geneva

NOTES ARE SENT TO POWERS

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—President Coolidge today proposed to the governments of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan that limitations of cruisers, destroyers and submarines be discussed at the forthcoming Geneva disarmament meeting. The president sent to congress a message announcing presenting of his proposal to the powers, through the American ambassadors to the nations involved.

Cruisers, destroyers and submarines were not limited by agreements reached at the Washington disarmament conference in 1922. The president took issue with foreign governments which have argued at previous sessions of the Geneva arms conference that problems of land, air and sea arms limitations are inseparable. He repeated the contention that naval limitation should be dealt with immediately by the chief naval powers, leaving land and air limitation for regional agreements.

"The American government," said his memorandum, "feels that land and air armaments constitute essentially regional agreements. The American army and air force are at minimum strength. Agreement for land and air limitation in other regions of the world would not be dependent upon the reduction or limitation of American land and air forces."

His memorandum also "admitted reluctance" that political conditions in some countries might render impossible a solution of the universal armament problem, but held the conference at Geneva could begin with the naval proposals. His proposal was for a naval arms limitation conference at Geneva, paralleling the preparatory commission's deliberations there, in which America has been constantly represented. The conference would have plenary powers and be quite independent of the commission work. In other words, Coolidge seeks, through the new Geneva meeting, to arrange for a new agreement on limitation of the smaller warcraft which were not dealt with at the Washington conference.

Bobbed-Haired Bandit Aids In Robbery

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10.—A bobbed-haired bandit, who waited in an automobile, aided two robbers in holding up and robbing R. D. Halstead, Pasadena real estate broker, of $40 early today, on New Hampshire street. One of the men flashed a badge on him, telling him he was under arrest, but he talked them out of taking him with them, Halstead said.

Passengers, Crew Kept in Port After $51,000 Disappears
(By United Press)
SAN PEDRO, Calif., Feb. 10.—More than 100 passengers and the crew of the liner Colombia were being detained here today, following the discovery that $51,000 in cash, consigned to a Los Angeles bank, was missing.

The loss was discovered yesterday at sea, and port authorities were notified when the ship docked today. According to officials of the liner, the money was in a box in the ship's vault and was being sent from a bank in La Libertad, Salvador, to a bank in Los Angeles. The box containing the money was said to have been in the vault when the ship last touched port in Central America.

However, the liner came within two miles of the Lower California coast during the course of the voyage into this port, and it was admitted that the money may have been taken by someone who swam ashore at that point.

Coolidge Told of Western Attitude

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The people of the west are wrought up over congress failure to pass Boulder dam legislation and they suspect large power interests of blocking passage, Dr. William H. Walker, a member of the California Boulder dam delegation, told President Coolidge today.

"If the power trust is running the United States, it is high time that the American people know of it," Walker said, after the conference. "This bill should have been pushed through congress long ago, and only undue interference has withheld its passage."

preparatory commission for the disarmament conference at Geneva to negotiate and conclude, at an early date, an agreement further limiting naval armaments supplementing the Washington treaty on that subject, and covering the classes of vessels not covered by that treaty.

Note to Foreign Powers
In setting forth this government's policy regarding the proposed arms limitation, the memorandum to foreign governments, enclosed in the president's message to congress, said:

"The Washington government feels that the general principle of the Washington treaty offers a suitable basis for further discussion among its signatories.

"Although hesitating at this time to put forward recent rigid proposals as regards the ratios of naval strength to be maintained by the different powers, the American government, for its part, is disposed to accept, in regard to this class of vessels, not covered by the Washington treaty, an extension of the 5-5-3 ratio as regards the United States, Great Britain, Japan, and to leave to discussion at Geneva the ratios of France and Italy, taking into full account their special condition and requirements in regard to the type of vessels in question.

Would Not Affect Treaty
"Ratios for capital ships and aircraft carriers were established by that treaty which would not be affected in any way by an agreement covering other classes of ships.

"The American representatives at the forthcoming meeting at Geneva will, of course, participate fully in the discussion looking to the preparation of an agenda for a final general conference for the limitation of armaments. In addition, they will have full powers to negotiate definitely regarding measures for further naval limitations, if they are able to reach agreement with the representatives of the other signatories of the Washington treaty, to conclude a convention embodying such agreement in tentative or final form, as may be found practicable.

"The American government earnestly hopes that the institution of such negotiations at Geneva may be agreeable to the governments of the British empire, France, Italy and Japan, and that comprehensive limitations of all types of naval armaments may be brought into effect by the principal naval powers without delay."

New Court Is Christened In Placentia

Christening the recorder's court in the newly incorporated city of Placentia, the preliminary hearing of Ben Muroz, charged with issuing a fictitious check, was held there today.

Recorder Thomas Pickarell, who also is secretary of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce, conducted the hearing, at which Muroz was held for trial under $1000 bail. Deputy District Attorney Sam L. Collins appeared for the prosecution.

Muroz, the evidence showed, passed a bogus $5 check to Frank Neis, of Placentia. His case was the first to come before the court.

over to Jackson and I turned him over to my two pals to get the car away from him.

"A while later, they came back and told me there had been trouble and that Lage had to be killed.

"I knew it was a case of making a getaway. I gave my pals $150 each and I took Lage's car, drove to Los Angeles, then over into Arizona, back to Los Angeles and up to Paso Robles. I have been watching the papers to see if the police were on my trail, and found that they had machine-guns for me in Salinas. So I just left the car in a garage and took a stage through Salinas. I didn't see any machine-guns, either."

Shannon said he hung around San Francisco for a while and, learning from the papers that the police thought they knew where he was, took a train to Chicago, later going to Butte and then Salt Lake City.

Shannon appears to have no regret for the death of Lage, but his conscience pricks him on account of a forged telegram he sent to Lage's wife after the murder, deceiving her as to Lage's detention from home.

"I am sorry," said Shannon, "but I just had to deceive her, because I thought it would give me more time to make my getaway. I forged his name to a telegram to her saying he was detained on business."

Shannon blames his first diversion from the straight and narrow path to financial inability to keep up the social pace with co-eds of the University of California where, he said, he went to school for a time.

"I stepped out with the girls," he remarked with a smile, "but I soon ran out of money. I was working as cashier in a garage. I needed money, so I forged a check. It was easy. So I kept on until I was caught and sent to prison. When I got out, I kept it up. I went to prison again, but when I got out I started the old game again and kept it up until it has landed me in this predicament. I guess I'll stop now."

CALIFORNIA OFFICIALS LEAVE FOR SALT LAKE

JACKSON, Calif., Feb. 10.—Accompanied by District Attorney Ralph McGee to combat any attempt of Willard Shannon, accused slayer, to flight extradition, Sheriff George Lucot, of Amador county, left today for Salt Lake City to bring back the alleged perpetrator of one of the most brutal murders on record in California, the slaying of Harold W. Lage, prominent Stockton sales manager.

The Amador county officials will stop at Sacramento for extradition papers, which Governor Young is expected to sign promptly, permitting them to continue on to Salt Lake either late today or tomorrow.

Little difficulty in gaining custody of Shannon was anticipated by Lucot. Speedy action has been promised by state authorities at Sacramento. Salt Lake City officials have agreed to waive claim to Shannon, who is now under sentence there for forgery. Shannon, himself, has agreed to come back and "prove my innocence."

Stockton and Jackson authorities discredited Shannon's story that he was only an accomplice in the murder and that two companions were the actual slayers. Shannon told Salt Lake City authorities the "trio" sought Lage's fast car only for making a getaway, after staging some gold mine holdups they had planned in the rugged Amador hills country. "We've checked the case so thoroughly," Lucot said, before departing for Utah, "that there can't be a possibility of any person other than Shannon being involved in Lage's murder."

Stanley Funeral Set for Tuesday

Funeral services for John A. Stanley, 208 East Eleventh street, who died at the county hospital Tuesday, will be held Saturday at 3:30 p. m. at the Huddle Funeral parlors, Anaheim. The Rev. Charles F. Seltzer, pastor of the First Methodist church of Santa Ana, will officiate.

Following the services, the body will be sent to McGregor, Tex., for burial. Mr. Stanley formerly lived in McGregor.

Mr. Stanley is survived by his widow, Mrs. Maggie Stanley and two children.

FOUR ARRESTED IN RUM RAID AT LAGUNA BEACH

A signal was sent to the government cutters, hidden in Emerald bay, and the cutters closed in. In the meantime, the speed boat delivered a cargo of liquor to the dory, and the dory started ashore.

Soon after the cutters came from their hiding places, they were spotted. The boats turned and easily escaped by the speeder and the rum boat. Not a shot was fired from the cutters, so quickly were the rum runners able to turn and disappear in the darkness.

In the meantime, unaware of what was going on out at sea, the small dory, containing five men and 75 cases of liquor, came ashore. Just as the boat beached, and as the officers jumped from their hiding places on the sand, a woman and a man, on a cliff high above the water, shouted a warning. "Go back, go back," they yelled from the cliff. The men in the boat, probably confederates, turned their boat and started out to sea again. Benedict and others of the federal officers went into the water after the small boat, and a hand-to-hand fight ensued. In the scuffle, the boat overturned, and most of the liquor was deposited on the ocean floor, in six feet of water.

Make Break for Shore
When the boat overturned, the rum runners made a break for the shore, and were captured individually as they reached land, by other county and federal officers.

The shooting occurred when the boat first started to turn from the shore, after receiving the warning from the man and woman on the cliff. The rum runners did not return the fire at the time, and officers learned they were without arms when they later were captured.

Much of the liquor confiscated by the officers was dug up from the bottom of the ocean, at the place where the small dory overturned. A number of cases were found in the bottom of the boat, however, not having fallen out when the dory capsized. This was explained by Benedict, who said he and others quickly righted the boat in an attempt to save the evidence.

Benedict said today that the coast guard cutters probably would remain at Laguna Beach all day today in an effort to find some trace of the man who was seen to go out of the dory into the water at the time of the shooting. Whether he drowned or was shot out of the boat is not known. The shooting occurred in the almost inky blackness of a night made dark after the moon set, and it was impossible, officers said, to say what had become of the fifth rum runner.

Comb Town for Lookouts
After the capture, a search of Laguna Beach for the man and the woman who warned the rum runners was made by D. D. Adams, deputy sheriff, and other sheriff and federal officers. Several women were questioned, but none was held.

The prisoners and the liquor were taken to Los Angeles shortly before noon today. The men will face charges of smuggling and violation of the federal prohibition laws, according to Benedict.

The raid, so far as the federal officers are concerned, is the first in Orange county since the beginning of the new regime under Major McReynolds.

Sheriff Jernigan stated today that his forces were divided last night, half of his men led by himself, working in another section of the county in an effort to capture chicken thieves, who have been harassing farmers in the Garden Grove district for two weeks. Deputy Sheriff Adams was in charge of the sheriff's men who were with the federalists.

Sheriff Jernigan sent several officers to Laguna Beach this morning to take charge of a number of sacks of liquor, washed ashore by the tides, it was said. Reports reached the sheriff's office at 10 a. m. that a crowd had gathered and was carting away the liquor.

Early today, federal officers went to the home of Cunningham, in Laguna Beach, where they are said to have found the street clothing of the men who were captured. Their personal effects were in these clothes, which identified them, it was said, together with their money and other valuables.

Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

A-DOF-LUS CHEESE

Introducing a New and Delicious Cheese
containing Acidophilus

IN response to a widespread demand for an acidophilus product in a form which would have a universal appeal in the way of taste, our laboratory, after months of research, has perfected A-dof-lus Cheese.

Without forfeiting any of the food values—the proteins, the milk sugar, the vitamins and minerals—we have found that cheese, as well as the highest grade of milk, is ideal for the healthy growth of those wonderful microscopic acidophilus plants that are so beneficial for chronic constipation and other digestive disturbances.

This delicious cheese makes an excellent and tasty spread for bread. It is to be used like any other cheese—on bread or crackers, in salads, with pie, or dissolved in warm water (not hot) or in orange juice.

HEALTH-PROMOTING

A-dof-lus Cheese is more than a nutritious food, for it possesses health-promoting qualities not common to any other type of cheese. These qualities are due to the high content of recognized vital acidophilus elements. Each cake, when made, contains the same amount of active acidophilus elements as a quart of the best acidophilus milk. A-dof-lus Milk and the new A-dof-lus Cheese, because of their highly concentrated acidophilus content, are recommended and prescribed for the specific treatment of chronic constipation; intestinal toxemia; auto-intoxication; chronic mucous colitis; high blood pressure; rheumatic conditions and acne of intestinal origin, and also in infant feeding.

CONVENTION TO ATTRACT S. A. GIRL RESERVES

Miss Helen McPeak, secretary of the Santa Ana branch of the Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A., will leave for Imperial valley tomorrow morning, accompanied by eight members of the Santa Ana organization, to attend the ninth annual mid-winter conference of Girl Reserves of Southern California.

The girls who will accompany Miss McPeak are Miss Marcia Huber, Miss Jean Nicholson, Miss Mary Glenn, Miss Florence Brownridge, Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Miss Wilma Hoy, Miss Georgia Belle Walton and Miss Mary Bruner.

They will travel in a bus, chartered to carry delegates from the Orange and Anaheim branches as well as the Santa Ana organization. The return trip will be made Sunday afternoon.

Most of the conferences will be held in El Centro. Miss McPeak stated that the chambers of commerce in various Imperial valley towns would assist in providing entertainment for the girls.

Art Appreciation P-T. A. Subject

ORANGE, Feb. 10.—Art appreciation was the general topic of discussion at the meeting of the Intermediate P-T. A. yesterday afternoon at the intermediate school. Miss Frances Heil, art instructor in the Orange union high school, conducted the art appreciation discussion, speaking on the topic of "Art Appreciation in Home Life."

The exhibit of Laguna artists which has been on display in Orange for the past two weeks at various schools, will be taken to the Maple street school tomorrow morning to be on display until Monday, it was announced.

In recognition of the Founder's day of the P-T. A., a paper was read by Mrs. Paul Clark which traced the history of the organization since its inception.

Entertainment was furnished by Miss Josephine Duran, vocalist, accompanied by Miss Adelaide Proctor, and the school orchestra.

Orange Man Held For L. A. Officers

Arrested for Los Angeles county officers, P. J. Holt, 19, 436 Santa Fe street, Orange, was lodged in the county jail last night by Jack Roberts, deputy sheriff. Holt is said to be wanted in Los Angeles county on a charge of petit larceny. He probably will be taken to Los Angeles this afternoon.

The nine justices of the U. S. supreme court never vote, although they are allowed by law to do so in their home states. The custom is kept up through tradition.

As a special attraction, beginning today, Yost Broadway will show, in its current news events, motion pictures of Virginia Brannon, "Miss Orange County," Evelyn Dysart, "Miss Santa Ana," and Patricia O'Leary, who are featured in some beautiful snow scenes taken last Sunday at Cedarplains park in the San Bernardino mountains.

A gorgeous fashion show will be held in connection with the coronation ball, Monday night, at St. Ann's Inn, it was announced today.

Santa Ana shops which have received the latest spring models from Paris and New York, will have spectacular displays. Professional mannequins will wear the frocks.

S. A. MEN TO ATTEND Y. M. C. A. MEET

Orange county, particularly Santa Ana, will be well represented at the annual state convention of the Y. M. C. A., which will convene tomorrow in Pasadena, according to R. C. Smedley, general secretary of the Santa Ana association.

Among those who are planning to attend the event from this vicinity are O. H. Barr, president of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. and a member of the national executive committee; Harry W. Lewis, T. D. Knights, Ralph C. Smalley, J. A. Cranston, J. Garfield Allen, C. A. Miller and W. B. Baker.

The convention will open at noon and continue through the afternoon, with a dinner meeting in the evening. Addresses will be given by Arthur Cotton, of New York City, national council Y. M. C. A. boys' work secretary, and Cameron Beck, of the New York Stock exchange.

Many notable speakers will be in attendance at the convention, which promises to be one of the most important meetings of the organization on the Pacific coast, Smedley declared.

Grove Man Held On Manufacture Of Booze Charge

Charged with manufacture of intoxicating liquor, Tony Kurtella, 23, Garden Grove, was arrested early today by D. D. Adams, deputy sheriff. He is being held in the county jail.

According to Adams, Kurtella was arrested as the result of the explosion, Tuesday, of a still, located in a barn in Garden Grove. The barn and two stills were destroyed in the fire following the explosion, according to officers.

Kurtella probably will be arraigned today before Justice Kenneth Morrison.

Only one of the stills in the barn was being operated at the time of the explosion, according to Adams, who made an investigation.

Man Arrested for Pomona Officers

Wanted in Pomona on a charge of passing fictitious checks, A. L. White, 37, Red Hill avenue, Tustin, was arrested yesterday in Huntington Beach, by Jack Tinsley, city marshal, and turned over to Ed McClellan, deputy sheriff, who holds a warrant for him. McClellan said that White probably would be taken to Pomona today.

CLUBWOMEN OF COUNTY HEAR STATE OFFICER

That most people are just beginning to realize the importance of public supervision of institutions was the statement of Mrs. Wanda Muir Hanna, state chairman of institutional relations, principal speaker at the meeting of the executive board of the Orange County Federation of Women's Clubs, in Los Alamitos. Mrs. Hanna, who is the daughter of John Muir, poet, said that two years ago a survey of institutions and children, who were wards of state or county, brought out the need for public interest in their problems. All state institutions are overcrowded, according to Mrs. Hanna, who continued that the situation rapidly is improving. She illustrated this point by telling of a number of public institutions where much has been done to correct the situation.

Jernigan, Zaiser Speak To further illustrate Mrs. Hanna's talk on "Institutional Relations," Sheriff Sam Jernigan and Dr. A. C. Zaiser talked on conditions in the county jail and county hospital.

Jernigan described the various quarters in the building, told of the daily menus, discussed the working and recreational hours of the prisoners and finally described various characters with whom officers have to deal. Included in his talk were a number of interesting statistics relating to the various crimes for which the prisoners had been apprehended.

Dr. Zaiser told of the work in the Orange County hospital and of the necessity for always being prepared to care for a great variety of cases. He discussed the size of the hospital staff and the need for enlarging the present quarters.

The meeting was an all-day session. A business meeting was held in the morning, when reports and announcements were made. Included in the announcements were two by the Fullerton Ebell society and the Newport Ebell society. Each club will hold reciprocity programs, the one in Fullerton to be on February 13 and the one in Newport, March 17.

Americanization Breakfast Mrs. C. G. Huston, county chairman of American citizenship, announced that an Americanization breakfast would be held in the city hall, Anaheim, at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, February 12. The chairman of the citizenship, community service and co-operation with war veterans committees will be sponsors of the breakfast.

Mrs. A. P. Nelson, county president, asked county chairmen to invite neighboring clubs to all meetings when a state officer is to be present.

A musical program, in charge of Madame Manuela, of Fullerton, county chairman of music, will be presented over radio station KWTC, Santa Ana, on the evening of February 15.

The next meeting of the board will be held April 5, in Placentia. The county convention will be held April 22, in Anaheim.

Man Is Seriously Hurt In Runaway

J. F. Newton, of North Grand avenue, Orange, received severe body bruises this morning, when a team of horses ran away. Newton was dragged on the ground for about 100 feet. His injuries are not considered serious. The horses are owned by George Osmun, of 593 North Glassell street, Orange.

Series of Luncheons Launched at Party Of Yesterday

Presenting the initial one of a series of luncheons with which she will greet the spring season, Mrs. A. W. Getchell of 406 Halesworth street, entertained delightfully yesterday. The home, with its quaintly beautiful old furniture, much of it hand-carved was bright with spring flowers in widely varied coloring.

The long table in the dining-room where guests found their places by hand-painted floral name cards, was centered with a crystal rose-bowl filled with rainbow-tinted flowers which nodded to their reflection in the mirrored plateau below. At either end of the table was a pale-yellow candle-holder with slender whip tapers and at each place, a rose nut-cup filled with almonds and bonbons.

Mrs. Getchell's three daughters Mrs. W. R. Sylvester, Mrs. Elton Roehm and Mrs. George Paul Jr., served the several courses, producing as the final one, pineapple pie so embellished with whipped cream in lacey pattern surrounding a large red heart, as to give it the exact effect of a lovely old-fashioned valentine.

In the afternoon, dainty bits of needlework served as accompaniment to the lively chat of a group of close friends.

Those enjoying Mrs. Getchell's hospitality at the first of her luncheon series, were Mrs. Nellie Young, Mrs. Amanda Holmes, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Northrop, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Barnard, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Johnson of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. C. I. Meacham.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

For Executive Board Mrs. Clyde A. Bach and Mrs. Harold Kent Pollock, as president and vice president of the Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church, entertained the executive board of the society on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Pollock, 1113 West Fifth street.

After a short business meeting, a pleasant afternoon of games and music was enjoyed. The daughters of the home, the Misses Marjorie and Florine Pollock, contributed delightful vocal numbers and Mrs. Pollock followed with some of her enjoyable piano solos.

After the informal program, the most appealing of refreshments were served by the hostesses, whose home-made cakes received special praise.

The board members included Mrs. Charles Winans, Miss Edith Ward, Miss Louise Brokaw, Mrs. Cynthia Davis, Mrs. C. H. Baird, Mrs. W. W. Anderson, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. F. E. Dearth, Mrs. G. B. Darnell, Mrs. H. N. Brothers, Mrs. J. E. Kellogg, Miss Mary Craig, Mrs. R. J. Brown, Mrs. Mary Crissman, Mrs. L. B. Pearl, Miss Jennie Krose, Mrs. Leonore Ward, Mrs. Bach and Mrs. Pollock.

Special guests included Mrs. E. L. Morrison, state superintendent of the Federated Aid, and Mrs. George Spencer. Also the Rev. and Mrs. O. Scott McFarland, the new pastor and his wife, and the Rev. and Mrs. R. H. Silverthorn, the assistant pastor and wife.

Advent Christian The missionary society of the Advent Christian church met yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. Bauer. A talk by Mrs. H. L. Hansen featured the afternoon. Refreshments were served.

Among those present were Mrs. Earl Shoemaker and family, Mrs. H. L. Hansen, Mrs. Charles Crawford, Mrs. Jerry Phillips, Mrs. Elmer Beltz, Mrs. Fannie Dresser,

Second Sentence Bit Stiffer Than His Original One

A. Einhaus, 44, 1662 Shafter street, Point Loma, was lodged in jail here today after being fined $75, with an alternate of spending 75 days in the bastille, on a charge of not paying a traffic fine when told to do so. Einhaus was sentenced by Justice Kenneth Morrison.

The man originally was arrested on September 27, last year, on a charge of speeding 38 miles an hour in a 15-mile zone. He appeared in court on Oct. 8, 1926, and was fined $25.

Because the fine was not paid, Einhaus was rearrested yesterday and again brought before Justice Morrison. F. G. Yoder, state officer, made the second arrest.

Stanford Track Squad to Begin Season Feb. 26

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 10.—Stanford's 1927 track and field schedule, including eight meets, all at home, was announced here today.

The season will begin February 26 with the Interclass meet. March 5 is the date set for the traditional Irish marathon. March 12, the Cards begin their outside competition with a meet against the powerful Hollywood Athletic club aggregation.

The following week, "Dink" Templeton's proteges tackle the Olympic club. April 2, the University of Southern California Trojans invade the "Farm" for what promises to be one of the greatest battles of the season. April 9, the Southern Conference All-Stars are to compete with the Redshirts and April 16 is the date of the Stanford-California "big meet."

Mrs. Jess Bailey, Mrs. R. Montgomery, Mrs. Bell Martin, Mrs. Martha Shatto, Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mrs. Sarah Brown, the Rev. William E. Sailer and the hostess, Mrs. J. Bauer.

St. Peter Lutheran A lively session of the St. Peter Lutheran Aid society was devoted to missions yesterday afternoon, when the members met in the church social rooms for the February session. Different ones present took part in the program, developing many interesting lines.

Decision was reached to hold a social meeting Friday, February 19, in the church parlors. Following this, a social hour was held during which Mrs. Carl Gutzman and Mrs. Anita Krook, the hostess committee, served refreshments.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Successful Surprise
Planned by Members
Of Office Force

Success smiled on the efforts of business office members of the Register staff, to plan a surprise party on the business manager, W. H. Hanley, who yesterday celebrated his birthday anniversary and last night was indeed amazed at the advent of a laughing group of his office companions, at the pleasant Hanley home, 1127 Orange avenue.

Mrs. Hanley, however, was in the secret, and aided the conspirators in their plans by assuring that the unsuspecting host should be at home. And so he was wearing a warm sweater and a comfortable pair of house slippers, all in readiness for a quiet evening with a book. Books were disregarded however, when the crowd arrived and card tables appeared as though by magic.

The guests had been thoughtful enough to plan for prizes and Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson was presented with a set of bridge score cards for high score while among the men, Ben Herrick won a deck of cards for his skill. Mrs. Marian Knight was presented a valentine box of red candy hearts and J. P. Baumgartner received a bottle of "ketchup" as consolation gifts.

Interest in prize giving centered in the presentation to Mr. Hanley of a fountain pen, by Mr. Baumgartner, speaking for the guests. The spokesman was considerably surprised himself when he too was remembered with a handsome umbrella from Mrs. Baumgartner. For he had disregarded the fact that the day celebrated his own birthday, which had been recognized by the entire newspaper staff with the gift of a leather brief case earlier in the day.

Not only had the merry-makers planned card prizes, they had also arranged for refreshments which were served at the small tables which Mrs. Hanley decked with candles, red carnations and valentine favors. A variety of sandwiches formed the supper course, to which with coffee and birthday wishes were added chocolate coated fruit squares prepared by the hostess.

Gathered for the pleasant evening with the Hanleys were Messrs. and Mesdames John P. Baumgartner, Terry E. Stephenson, H. T. Duckett, W. L. Mills, Charles D. Oakin, L. Shortleeve, Benjamin Herrick, the Misses Teresa McDonough, Helen Moore, Gene Miller, Letha White, Mrs. Marian Knight, Messrs. Hubert Scott, Cal Gilbert, Jules Hilton and John McCoy.

Departing Leader Entertains Her Club

Alpha Zeta Phi girls were called together last night for a delightful party with their president and her sister, the Misses Irene and Alene Reynolds, although the evening had its touch of sadness as well, for the two hostesses planned the party as a farewell to their club as they were departing with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Reynolds, for their new home in Pomona.

However sadness was not allowed to intrude, and everything was done to make the evening a merry one. The friendly home at 202 East Sixteenth street, was gay with valentine hearts and flowers, amidst which small tables were placed for bridge. Tallies bore the prevailing heart motif, and when scores were added at the end of the contest, Miss Doris Jones was found to have high and was presented with a dainty hand-painted handkerchief.

The card tables were then arranged for serving refreshments, valentine dainties and napkins adding their festive touch. Delicious little heart-shaped sandwiches were served with tea and pink-leaded cakes in the form of the four suits of cards. Little Miss Virginia Reynolds very deftly served the refreshments for her sisters, Mrs. L. W. Reynolds, Miss Gertrude Hacker and Mrs. H. C. Frakes also aided in various ways to make the evening happy for the young people.

The bridge players included in addition to the hostesses, the Misses Irene and Alene Reynolds, Miss Thelma Obar, Miss Dorothy Obar, Miss Doris Jones, Miss Teresa Ewert, Miss Evelyn Sherill and Miss Henrietta Schafer. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds and their family will leave Saturday for Pomona where their new home will be at 160 Franklin street.

Conversational Charm Discussed at Club

Mrs. Terry Stephenson spoke before members of the Wyncene Maedgen club last night when they met at the Y. W. C. A. rooms at Fifth and Sycamore streets for their weekly dinner and discussion.

Mrs. Stephenson's topic was "Charm in Conversation" which subject was a continuation of a number of interesting discussions on "Charm," which have been held recently by Wyncene Maedgen members.

Dynamic Speaker Will Be Introduced at Ebell Society

With only one day remaining in which reservations for the annual spring luncheon of Ebell society may be made by the members, the committee in charge of the affair for next Monday in the assembly room of the clubhouse, anticipates a heavy last-minute demand tomorrow. In order to accommodate the members who will want to reserve places, arrangements have been made whereby Mrs. A. M. Gardner, 1038J, and Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, 550R, may be reached at any time tomorrow.

The program committee of which Mrs. Lloyd A. Cheuchuck is chairman, has been successful in securing Rene Basil Clarke, internationally known speaker on woman and her work, who will be presented at the luncheon hour. In connection with her appearance, it has been emphasized that members who are unable to be present at the luncheon, must under no consideration, miss hearing her in the afternoon when she will speak.

For Mrs. Clarke has specialized all her life, in the study and observation of woman and her place in the world's scheme. She is declared to be, to a marked extent, a woman with a vision whose scope has been enlarged by a life of amazing interest and variety. She has lived abroad for many years where she gained fame as a talented and forceful speaker. In World war days, she toured this, her native country, in the interests of the Liberty loan, and her two sons served with Herbert Hoover in his relief work in Belgium.

She will take as her subject for Monday afternoon, "Our Opportunity," in which she is said to draw an unusually vivid picture of world and home conditions of today, and the great need existing for efficient parents.

The talented woman is now making her second lecture tour of California, having been recalled by clubs eager to hear a further expounding of her theories and to come again beneath the magnetic sway of her personality. Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Los Angeles district, California Federation of Woman's clubs, is enthusiastic in her appreciation of Mrs. Clarke, for the strength and beauty of her lectures, their stirring appeal, and the personality of the speaker.

Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock, in a manner similar to that prevailing last year when the first of the annual affairs was given. Mrs. Clarke will be the speaker of the afternoon, the date being the stated one for Ebells general meeting.

Valentine Bridge Adds Colorful Event to Week's Gayety

Among the colorful events of the season was the valentine bridge with which Mr. and Mrs. W. Den Doll last night entertained a group of friends in their home, 1003 West Camille street.

All decorative appointments conformed to the season, and hearts were prominent in the decorative effect achieved by many red and white flowers and green ferns. Bridge was played and when scores were tallied at the contest's close, the attractive prizes chosen by Mrs. Doll were distributed. Miss Norma Wingood taking first prize and Mrs. Frank Hammett, guest prize, each receiving a beautiful painting in oils. A leather bill fold rewarded Paul Witmer, while consoling valentines were given Mrs. Witmer and Frank Hammett.

In arranging her small tables with embroidered linens, Mrs. Doll was mindful of her decorative scheme, using valentine nut-baskets at each place and crystal candlesticks with valentine candles in the center of each table. A refreshing salad with a variety of sandwiches formed her first course, and was followed by angel food cake topped with whipped cream, and amber coffee.

Enjoying the pleasant evening with the hosts were Messrs. and Mesdames Victor Baird, George Parker, George Paul Jr., Morris A. Cain, John Cannon, Charles Givens, Paul Witmer, Don Andrews, Frank Hammett and Miss Norma Wingood.

PATRIOTIC ORGANIZATION IS SUCCESSFUL IN ENTERTAINING

Members of the local chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of which Mrs. Charles F. Smith is regent, were today congratulating themselves and being congratulated by their friends, upon having achieved one of the loveliest parties of the spring, in their endeavor to raise money for a special cause, by presenting an afternoon bridge.

The gratifying success was attributed to many causes, not the least being the hospitable manner in which Mrs. Richard Emison placed her home on North Park boulevard, at the disposal of the entertainment committee as a setting for the function. No more beautiful nor spacious home could be desired, and the large rooms, each filled with beautifully gowned women surrounding the bridge tables, offered a lovely scene indeed. It might be truly said that the guests played "upstairs and downstairs" in my lady's chamber, for card tables were placed in all parts of the house in order to accommodate the bridge enthusiasts. Even the billiard room was in readiness with its Navajo rugs and beautiful outlook.

While the Daughters gave the event in the Washington's birthday month, and naturally the patriotic motif was present, it was secondary in decorative effect, to the gay flowers and bright yet soft colors of spring. Drawing room, entrance hall, library, Spanish dining room, den, breakfast room, all the entrancing vista of the home, smiled with blossoms, arranged in great bowls and artistic baskets. These were especially effective in combination with the broadened hangings of drawing room and library and the rich combination of marquetry floors and handsome furniture.

In playing bridge, individual groups were allowed to make their own rules regarding progressing or pivoting, since many hostesses were entertaining guest parties and other friendly groups formed together at from three to half a dozen tables. At the close of the afternoon, each table called its own scores and the player holding high received the prize while low received the dainty floral pencil used at the table as consolation.

The prizes furthered the dominant spring idea, for small boxes, wrapped in brilliant yellow or green crepe paper, and with clusters of sweet-peas, ragged robins and daffodils twisted in their ribbons, contained four fine gladioli bulbs, which will yield glorious rose blooms the coming summer.

Young Girls Serve A bevy of young girls, daughters of D. of A. members, like flowers themselves in their dainty frocks, each wearing a quaint apron and cap in buff and blue of the order, served tea from beautiful old silver, toothsome wee sandwiches and rich little cakes each loosed in white and decorated with a red cherry. Mrs. Smith, the regent, had made all the caps and aprons, and the young people they adorned were the Misses Rose Marie Smith, Catherine and Emeline Swales, Evelyn and Eleanor Metzgar, Marian Crookshank, Jean Nicholson, Marian Stanley and Ann Haddon. Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch and a large committee, had all details of refreshments in charge, while Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar, aided by Mrs. W. H. Haddon, as the social committee, worked indefatigably in making the party a success and also assumed responsibility for the tables.

Prize Bulbs Mrs. Leonard G. Swales and Mrs. E. G. Summers planned the prizes, and Mrs. Summers, with whom gardening is a favorite hobby, donated all the gladioli bulbs, an unusually beautiful variety. Mrs. Summers is Mrs. Emison's mother, and it was as a courtesy to her that the young matron placed her home at the disposal of the chapter, since her own membership is not with the Santa Ana chapter but is still in the east.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Spurgeon P. T. A. will arrange its usual night meeting of this month so that fathers of the membership may be present and meet the teachers and their children. The date will be Tuesday, February 15, at 7:30 o'clock, and the meeting will be held as usual in the school kindergarten. Dr. Lela K. Beebe has been secured to give an address on "Conservation of Our Greatest National Resources" which carries a special message for parents. A short, snappy program will precede the address.

Light Bearers of the First Presbyterian church will be entertained at a valentine party Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The children will meet in the church social rooms where Mrs. W. S. McDougall will tell the missionary story and later there will be merry games and refreshments.

Santa Ana Community Players who attend the monthly social and program meetings at The Barn, have been informed by the February committee that they are not to take sandwiches tonight when they journey to The Barn, for the committee has decided to change the refreshment scheme a trifle for this one night. An amusing one-act play "Evening Dress Indispensable," is to be given and the business meeting is expected to be highly interesting because of the recent interest, "Enter Madame," results of which will be given.

Business and Professional Women who plan to attend the meeting of the Southern District Federation in Eagle Rock next Saturday night, are asked to communicate with Miss Louise Kaiser, 2935, at once as reservations must be in by tomorrow morning. The program as announced by the hostess club will offer Harry Shafer, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles schools as speaker, with "Abraham Lincoln" as his subject. There will also be a musical program and community singing and dancing. Those who wish to remain in Eagle Rock over night, will be entertained as guests of members of the hostess club.

Officers of the Santa Ana American Legion again reminded their members today of the card party to be given at Legion hall Friday evening, February 11, beginning at 8 o'clock. Prizes are being offered to those who play bridge as well as

Dinner Party Greet Newly-weds' Return

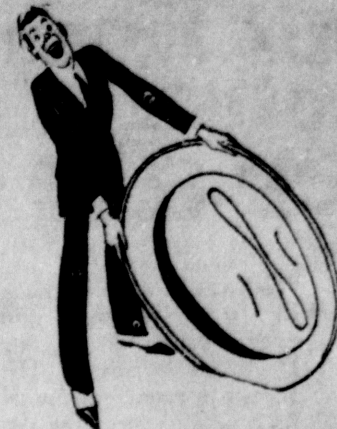

A pleasant event of the week was the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Whitford at their home, 1001 West Myrtle street, to welcome the return from their Southern California honeymoon of Mr. and Mrs. Stanislaus Doerr.

Mrs. Doerr was formerly Miss Ruth Whitford and the wedding was a quiet event of Friday, February 4 with the Rev. Otto S. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. The young people left at once for their honeymoon trip, but are now settled in the Doerr home at 1135 West Third street, sharing the home of the bridegroom's father, John Doerr.

The dinner planned to welcome their return, was a pleasant affair in which Mrs. Whitford was assisted by her daughters, Mrs. O. W. Wickersheim and Mrs. Raymond Underwood.

Covers were placed for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Whitford, the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Stanislaus Doerr, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Whitford and children, Maxine and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Underwood and son Verle, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Underwood and baby, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Wickersheim and Junior, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Wright, John Doerr and Masters Minor, David and Clifford Whitford.

JAGIANS WILL NAME CHORUS ADVISORY BODY

An executive council, to act in an advisory capacity for the Santa Ana Boys' chorus, sponsored by the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be organized tonight in the offices of the chamber, adjoining St. Ann's Inn, Mason Yould, president of the Junior chamber, announced today. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30.

Up until the present time, Yould explained, the destinies of the chorus have been guided by representatives of the Junior chamber and Mrs. F. H. Beeson, director of music in the city schools. While the actual control over the chorus will be left in the hands of the public school officials, members of the board of directors of the Junior chamber felt that a definite organization should take over the functions of an advisory council, inasmuch as the organization has sponsored the singing organization.

The following are among those who have been invited to meet tonight and become members of the council: Mrs. F. H. Beeson, Miss Edith Cornell, J. A. Cranston, D. C. Clanton, Bruce Switzer, Robert Penman, Mason Yould, Jesse Elliott and E. Merle Husong.

The meeting tonight will be for organization only and membership may be enlarged later, Yould concluded.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Ursula Francis, who died at the Santa Ana Valley hospital, February 5, was born Nov. 9, 1883, in Richmond Dale, O., where she spent most of her life. She was married to Robert O. Francis, in November, 1904.

A few years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Francis and their two sons came to Santa Ana to live. Surviving Mrs. Francis are her husband, Robert O. Francis, her sons, Willard E. and Charles D. Francis, two brothers, Ewert Dixon, of Chicago, and Roscoe Dixon, of Columbus, O., and a sister, Mrs. E. R. Leach, of Lima, O.

Funeral services were conducted at the Winbigger Mission Funeral home, Monday afternoon, by the Rev. Perry Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church. Pallbearers were H. A. Smith, S. W. Holt, C. A. Morrow, A. Pertolesi, R. Rice and J. Ramirez. Interment was at Fairhaven cemetery.

Charles Stolp Albee was born in Kendall county, Illinois, near Aurora, on September 28, 1846. He was married to Alice Ann Swarthout in Aurora November 28, 1871. In 1873 the couple moved to Arapahoe, Neb., where Mr. Albee engaged in the general mercantile business until his health began to fail when he and his wife moved to Indianapolis. Leaving Indianapolis, Mich. returning to Arapahoe to close out his business. The winter of 1888 and 1889 was spent in Florida. Returning to Arapahoe Mr. Albee's condition became worse and he was forced to use a rolling chair. In 1892 Mr. Albee and his wife moved to Santa Ana. They lived for some time at 602 East Fourth street, later in Los Angeles and then to Tustin where they have lived ever since. Besides his wife Mr. Albee is survived by a brother, F. A. Albee, in Watson, Ia., and a sister, Mrs. Emma Bennett, at Lilly Dale, N. Y. A niece, Mrs. Samuelson, lives in Tustin. Mr. Albee was a member of the Masonic lodge and was a staunch supporter of Masonic ideals. His life exemplified the qualities of patience and cheerfulness. No one ever visited his home without being impressed with these qualities. Surrounded by the devoted care of his faithful wife through all these years, he passed away, quietly and peacefully, at his home Monday afternoon, February 7, 1927. It was his wish that he be cremated.

A FRIEND.

NINE MYSTERY LETTERS READ IN TAX HEARING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The nine "mystery" letters in the Ford company stock sale case, hitherto barred by mutual agreement, were introduced by counsel for Senator James Couzens and associates, in the hearing on the case, here today, after strenuous government objection.

The letters were internal revenue bureau correspondence dealing with the Ford case. The most important was one from Senator James Watson, Republican, Indiana, to David Blair, internal revenue commissioner, enclosing the famous "Thompson memorandum," which questioned validity of the $3500 valuation of Ford stock, on which the original tax assessment was made. The present hearing is to determine whether the government was justified in throwing out that valuation of the stock, as of March, 1913, and adopting, instead, a $3500 valuation.

In response to the Watson letter, it was brought out, Blair promised "another investigation" of the stock sale, and this investigation led to the lower stock valuation, which resulted in an additional $36,000,000 assessment against Couzens and others who sold minority stock in the Ford company to Henry Ford, in 1913.

The often rumored Couzens-Ford agreement, whereby Ford was alleged to have agreed to pay all taxes involved in the stock sale, also was brought out in the hearing today.

CHARGES INVOLVE EX-DRY OFFICERS

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 10.—Sensational charges, involving former dry agents, bootleggers and alleged miscarriages of justice, were made in federal court here today.

In a signed statement, Jim Stayten, held for contempt of court, accused Dr. J. A. Linville, former prohibition director for Oregon, of selling grain alcohol to Portland bootleggers. Linville was assisted in this by Frank Mitchell, his legal aide, Stayten charged.

Stayten said that Mitchell and Roy Moore, reputed king of the bootleggers of the northwest, had "railroaded" Arthur Christensen and Robert and A. C. Smith, ex-federal and state prohibition agents, at their trial here last spring.

The Smith brothers and Christensen were convicted and sentenced to 18 months in prison, because Mitchell forced witnesses to commit perjury by the threat of prosecution, the statement declared.

Federal Judge Bean characterized the statement as a "remarkable one" and ordered a thorough investigation of all the charges.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mother can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruit laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they really love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1927

IDEAS

and Ideals
A. V. NAPIER

Next Monday will be St. Valentine's day and the people of Newport Beach are expecting to send each other a large number of wonderful valentines. They will be in the form of ballots and each valentine will say "Yes," or "No." If there is a sufficient number of "Yes" valentines, it will mean that the city of Newport Beach will issue improvement bonds in the amount of $500,000 for the purpose of making over the entrance to Newport bay. The money, if voted for in the special election Monday, will be used to repair the old jetty which the tides have damaged, to build another on the east side of the entrance and do the dredging necessary for the safety of incoming boats.

In the city of Newport Beach there is little evidence of opposition to the improvement project. There are numerous well known reasons why the harbor entrance should be improved, but there are reasons of special importance to the citizens of the bay district. The city of Newport Beach has already spent a considerable sum in harbor improvements. Most of these improvements are being damaged, and in time will be destroyed by the action of the ocean. It is necessary, without further delay, it is said, to protect the investment that has been made by spending some further money on the harbor entrance.

The work which the bond money is expected to do is also looked upon as necessary for the protection of the bay district's reputation and general welfare. There are people, somewhat lacking in accurate information perhaps, who regard the bay district as unsafe. The fact that a number of people have lost their lives while swimming in the channel or attempting to pass through the entrance in boats, is felt to be giving the place a bad reputation. It is no doubt true that several of the deaths that have occurred there have been the result of recklessness, but so long as the water is there to swim in and the entrance is there for boats to pass through, people will swim in the water and pass through the entrance. And people will be drowned. The fact that there are miles and miles of perfectly safe water and wonderful sandy beach all around the harbor entrance has not in the past and will not now keep thoughtless people from venturing into the dangerous water.

The Newport bay district, in the minds of citizens there, is a natural playground of unsurpassed beauty and convenience. In time, if its reputation is not damaged by unfavorable publicity, it will be the summer vacation land for millions. On next Monday, therefore, the people of Newport Beach are expecting to send a valentine to each other and to the people generally in Southern California, announcing that the harbor entrance is to be made safe and that the countless thousands who will be seeking a pleasant water resort in the future, can enjoy the remarkable advantages of the Newport bay district, without fear that their outing may be spoiled by the presence of tragedy.

WALNUT AND CITRUS LAND VALUES JUMP AT KATELLA

Property Bought for $65 Per Acre by Pioneers Now Selling for $4000

MANY FINE HOMES BUILT IN SECTION

Kate, Ella Rae Provide Name for Territory; 108 Pupils at School

Citrus and walnut groves, of an assessed valuation of $1,300,000, are cultivated in the fertile section of Katella, six miles from Santa Ana on the highway to Anaheim. The district is one of the most intensively cultivated citrus sections in Orange county.

Of the 2500 acres at Katella, less than 50 acres are planted to other crops.

The groves of walnuts and oranges are continuous. Land values range in price from $3000 to $4000 an acre. The prosperity of the region is evidenced by the many beautiful homes.

A $35,000 school house, erected in 1920, is attended by 108 students. Four regular teachers and one special teacher are employed. The school trustees are Thomas Haster, J. B. Eaton and R. L. Howell. Mrs. Haster is the president of the Parent-Teacher association.

One of the most unique industries at Katella is the bulb cultivation carried on by C. R. Hannah. Recently, his plant was incorporated at $150,000. Sixteen acres of his place, facing on the highway, are planted to bulbs.

The first orange orchards were planted about 1890. Previous to that, the land was in walnut orchards. J. B. Rae, one of the pioneers in the section, set out the first walnut orchard when he planted his 80 acre ranch in 1891.

Rae gave Katella its name, combining the names of his two daughters, Kate and Ella.

One of the daughters, Ella, still lives in the district. She is the wife of William Wallop.

When the early settlers came into this section, buying the land at $65 an acre, nothing but sand wastes existed. Some of the first men to take up holdings were John Hannah, Robert Hansen, John C. Mauerhan and Sidney Holman.

Rae was one of the first to put down a well for water. Today, the irrigation water for the section is supplied by private pumping plants. Several new homes are being built near the highway. A little center is building up on the tract held by Romane Berger, near the Edison sub-station, which supplies electricity for the vicinity of Anaheim. The population of the Katella district is about 600, it is estimated. The inhabitants of the section point proudly to their citrus groves, school building and beautiful homes as proof of the prosperity of the section.

NECESSITY FOR COMMUNITY PLANNING TOLD BY EXPERT

Immediate adoption of plans for controlling the future development of Orange county, in later years will save the property owners of the county untold millions of dollars for correction of errors in the laying out of highways in an uncontrolled development of the county, in the opinion of Hugh Pomeroy, secretary of the Los Angeles county regional planning commission.

Pomeroy was the principal speaker at the meeting at Laguna Beach last night of the Orange County Association of Realty boards, the business session of the organization following a dinner served at the Tea and Tiffin.

Urges Systematic Program
The speaker also emphasized the possibility of the county becoming an outstanding community in the future by providing at this time a systematic program looking forward to the ultimate establishment of parks and a system of connecting highways.

Asserting his belief that Southern California is destined to become the home location of 15,000,000 persons, the Los Angeles man urged Orange county to adopt forward looking plans and provide for the future while there are yet open spaces and while main traffic lanes and wide highways may be obtained at small costs as compared with what costs will be in the future.

Expense Low Now
The speaker stressed the point that programming for the future could be made at this time and the ultimate point of perfection reached without involving the county or property owners with burdensome taxes or assessments.

Pomeroy cited the expenditure by the city of Los Angeles of millions of dollars for widening streets in that city, and recounted the miles of broad highways that have been acquired for nothing in Los Angeles county since the regional planning commission plan of control was adopted in that county five years ago. These highways have been secured by reason of control of subdivisions and a defined program of development, streets in subdivisions being laid out to conform to the general scheme of highways for the county.

Hits Heavy Taxes
It will be recalled here that the recent grand jury suggested that the organization of assessment districts be discouraged by the board of supervisors. Pomeroy last night touched upon that subject and pointed to localities in the Southland that have been burdened by heavy taxes through the creation of assessment districts for paving and installation of ornamental lighting systems.

"These improvements have been made without consideration at the time of the more necessary facilities of sewer, water and wider streets," Pomeroy said, in emphasizing the point that assessment must be pyramided to provide the facilities that must be had. He cited an instance of one property owner in the vicinity of Los Angeles paying taxes in excess of $400 on a lot assessed at $200.

Urges Controlled Progress
"Controlled progress prevents heavy assessments for rebuilding of a community," Pomeroy said in emphasizing the value of a uniform plan of development, and he added that Orange county should at once lay out a park and highway program that could be developed from year to year and without the im-

FINDS SANTA ANA BEST FOR HOME

After traveling in all parts of the world, Capt. Charles Oakes, formerly of Portland, Me., and New York City, has chosen to make his home in Santa Ana.

Capt. Oakes, a seafaring man for the past 50 years, 20 years of which were spent as marine superintendent for the Ward Steamship company, has authorized W. H. Dixon, local contractor, to erect a six-room Spanish style dwelling at the southeast corner of Nineteenth and Ross streets.

Capt. Oakes has been in California for several months, during which time he made a careful investigation of homesites in various sections of the state. Capt. Oakes was accompanied to California by his wife and daughter.

$100,000 MARK IN PERMITS PASSED

With permits for February to date well over the $100,000 mark, indications are that the aggregate for this month will amount to $150,000, since 15 building days remain. The total for the year to date is now $235,351. The total for December, 1926, was $147,645, and the total for January, 1927, was $106,504.

Five thousand dollars will be spent by Honer, Herzog and Farney in the construction of a residence and a garage at 2424 Valencia street. Work is scheduled to start at once.

Eight thousand dollars will be expended by O. A. Haley, local automobile dealer, in the construction of a residence and a garage at 2420 North Park boulevard. The dwelling will be of stucco construction and will consist of seven rooms. The contract is held by E. A. Noe.

A duplex dwelling to cost $3500 will be erected at 1326 South Park street by Mrs. Mabel Wimmer, of Orange, who has awarded the contract to E. C. Rogers. The building will have eight rooms.

J. W. Hess, of 902 West Sixth street, plans a residence and a garage at 2001 South Ross street. The cost is estimated at $3000. The owner will direct the work.

Gifford Jiles, of 522 1-2 South Van Ness street, will construct a residence and a garage at 1335 South Birch street at a cost of $3000.

Joe Ward, of 611 West Eighth street, will erect a residence and a garage at 609 1-2 West Eighth street. The cost is estimated at $2000.

R. Reynolds, of 1316 Austin street, will construct a residence at the same address at an expenditure of $2500. N. E. Watson holds the contract.

Clothing Store To Occupy East 4th Street Room

Formation of two stores is being accomplished at a cost of approximately $5500 at 214 East Fourth street by Justus Bircher, local contractor. One room will be occupied by the Blue Front clothing store. A tobacco stand will occupy space in part of the adjoining store.

The rooms will be ready for occupancy by March 10.

$75,000 WILL BE INVESTED IN DELHI AND MAIN FACTORY

Sunlite Products Company To Break Ground Soon for 80x146 Concrete Home

FOREIGN BUSINESS IS ON INCREASE

Average of 40 Persons Will Be Employed at Citrus By-Products Plant

A $75,000 industry will be in operation in Santa Ana within 90 days, it was revealed today by Franklin A. Murray, president of the Sunlite Products Company, Inc., following purchase of the northeast corner of Delhi road and Main street from G. M. Furman, for a consideration of $10,000.

Ground will be broken next week for the plant, which will be 80x146 feet in size and of concrete and steel construction. Plans were drawn by L. L. Jones, Douglas building, Los Angeles. Contract for the building will be let in a few days.

The company, which has been operating at 407 South Claudina street, Anaheim, for the past four years, manufactures a filling used by bakeries, an orange beverage, an orange concentrate used in hospitals, a lemon concentrate and candied orange and lemon peels.

According to Murray, the Sunlite company is a closed corporation and amply financed. The company has its own formulas and is enjoying a rapidly growing business, he stated.

An average of 40 persons will be on the payroll the entire year, Mr. Murray said, pointing out that the plant will employ around 75 or 80 people during the summer, with a smaller number at other times of the year.

The local plant will take care of four tons of oranges and lemons each day. It is estimated that 320 gallons of concentrate and 160 cases

The process by which common Portland cement is made was invented in 1824 by Joseph Aspdin. It was named "Portland" after a popular type of building stone quarried on the Isle of Portland, England. The process, of course, has been greatly improved upon since that time and its manufacture is still under close quality control from start to finish.

position of heavy tax burdens on the property owners.

"Laguna Beach is one of the few communities in the state that have been outstanding because of distinctiveness and I trust residents of Laguna will preserve those elements that have made it distinctive," the speaker said in connection with an assertion that there is a real reason why that community should adopt city planning. He cited the possibility of a scenic highway branching from the canyon highway to Capistrano and the establishment of a park in the foothills of the intervening territory.

Sale Rates Discussed

Asa Hoffman, president of the county association, conducted the business session, which was featured by a discussion as to whether commission rates on exchanges should be the same as charged for direct sales. Realtors speaking on the subject asserted that it is more difficult to negotiate an exchange than to make a direct sale and declared their belief that the rate should be the same on both classes of business. The present schedule of rates is five per cent on sales and two and one-half per cent on exchanges. The matter of increasing the exchange rate was left to decision of the individual boards, as the county organization has no authority to adopt a measure which concerns the individual boards. J. C. Wallace was made chairman of a committee to take up the question with various boards.

Edward S. Graham, of Pasadena, chairman of the uniform commissions committee of the California Real Estate association, was present and discussed activities of the committee in connection with the advancement of the uniform commission plan.

S. A. Men on Program

Brief addresses were made by Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county publicity agent; Joe Skidmore, resident of Laguna; Ed Martell, of Long Beach, field representative of the salesmen's division of the state association; Grover Russell, of Whittier, vice president of the state association for this district; Mrs. Ida Bolles, an artist who exhibited a number of paintings; A. B. Marshall, of Laguna, who delivered the address of welcome, and E. A. White, of Santa Ana, who responded.

H. H. Henshaw, president of the Laguna Beach Realty board, introduced Madame Beatrice Bowman, of Laguna Beach, in a group of vocal numbers, the singer delighting the group with her splendid rendition of classical numbers. The singer was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Anna Priscilla Risher, of Laguna.

The next quarterly meeting of the association in May will be held in Santa Ana, with a dance as the principal feature.

SPIRITED ARGUMENT ENDS IN FRIENDSHIP

Editor Register: It is so rare that a more or less spirited argument so suddenly develops into friendship, that I want to tell you that, after Volney Tubbs visit this forenoon, I feel that I have lost a great deal by not making his acquaintance years ago, and I have reason to believe that I convinced him that my neighbors and myself have a just reason for asking for our ratio of county funds to be used in research work to see if there is not a cheaper and a more reliable way to combat our much "dis-cussed" walnut pests. Whether I did or not, in the future it will be impossible for him and me to "talk back" to each other. Why he knew where the biggest trout and the best swimming holes were to be found in the stream that I knew so well. Instead of me taking a pot shot at him when he left, I was convinced that I had met a gentleman and a judge of good cigars, and I will endeavor to make him feel that his visit was not in vain. Mr. Tubbs tells me he has received red ink instead of cash on the sale of his oranges on several occasions in the not very distant past, and agrees with me that if the walnut trees have to come out because we cannot control the codling moth, that the citrus grower will also suffer severely, for the very reason that every acre of walnuts is replaced with oranges means that a much more danger of overproduction. I think the folly of Imperial valley plowing up gold alfalfa and planting more cotton should be a lesson to all of us. An old apple grower from Colorado told me not a week ago that they have to spray their apples 10 or 12 times a year for codling moth and, in spite of this heroic treatment, they have given up raising apples in many sections of that great apple-producing state. You may think this man was stating an untruth. I believe him, and you that do not had better find out before you plan your spray program. I want to repeat, I am not interested in putting any more of my money into the stuff. You may go the limit—I am "passing."

I thank you,
CHARLES F. HAVENS.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Monroe Salisbury, widely-known stage and screen actor, heads the current vaudeville bill at the West Coast-Walker theater, with choradramatic interpretations, which drew much applause at last night's performance. Salisbury's dramatic readings, to orchestra accompaniment, are refreshingly different from the ordinary run of vaudeville numbers. His characterizations are punctuated with a dynamic realism that makes his an outstanding act. Salisbury, who has spent many years behind the footlights, and also is a pioneer film player, was a star in the Mission Play, at San Gabriel. He recently returned from a vaudeville tour of the east.

The Paul Brachard troupe of four tumblers appear on the bill, as do three men signers from the late Music Box revue, at Hollywood.

Special numbers are rendered by Jack Bain and his orchestra.

The photoplay feature, "Spangles," is a story of love and intrigue on a circus lot, with Marian Nixon and Pat O'Malley in the leading roles. There is a never-failing fascination about circus life, and in this picture the atmosphere of the "big top" is emphasized throughout. The story is that of a pretty equestrienne and a young man who joins the show as a laborer and becomes a driver in a chariot race. There are elephants and lions and tigers, clowns, a bearded woman, giants and dwarfs, and spectacular parades. In fact, a whole circus, in winter quarters at Culver City, was used in making the picture.—By Reviewer.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

"The Lady in Ermine," Corinne Griffith's sweetest starring vehicle, opened last night at the Yost Broadway before a capacity house.

When you think of ermine you think of regal beauty, of class, of the essence of fineness. And Corinne Griffith has them all. Liberty recently acclaimed her the most beautiful woman in the world, and the ruler of fashions as designed on the Rue de la Paris.

Liberty might well have called her one of the screen's most capable actresses. For in "The Lady in Ermine" this scintillating beauty has brought a reserve, a poise and a power of emotion that should win her a high ranking in the best performances of the cinema's season.

The absorbing play is based on a true episode which occurred in a small town on the border between Italy and Austria in the year 1810, when Napoleon was roving Europe with an ambitious sword.

Records taken over 36 years indicate that the greatest number of fatal influenza cases occur about the ninth or tenth week of the year, and the fewest about the 35th or 36th week.

BUILDERS' QUERIES ANSWERED

By Southern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America

Q. How may partitions on which the rafters rest, be removed?

A. When removing bearing partitions, it is necessary to first place a temporary support on both sides, thus removing all weight from the partition to be removed. Then remove the partition, substituting therefor a beam of sufficient strength to support the load. The beam should rest on posts or studs at the ends and if the load is very heavy it should be carried to a separate footing or pier. When doing work of this nature, it is advisable to consult an architect or engineer in order to assure correct design of the beam and its supports.

Q. I purchased a lot on August 1, 1924, for $5500, paying $50 down, and the balance to be paid $50 monthly, including interest at 7 per cent. What is the balance due on the principal after the February 1, 1927 payment is made?

A. If the payments were made promptly when due, the balance remaining to be paid after the February 1, 1927, payment was made is $4993.13. This is the amount of principal yet to be paid.

Q. Rain water has seeped through the walls of my home, which is of wood frame and stucco construction with composition roofing. What is the cause and how may the condition be remedied? Is the construction responsible for the condition?

A. This condition is common in many residences in Southern California and throughout the country. The causes may be many. Perhaps the roof leaks or the stucco is not waterproofed. Many times an improper heating system causes the interior walls to be damp. In this particular case, it is rather doubtful to conclude the exact cause for this condition, due to the lack of enough data regarding the construction details of the dwelling. In all probability the cause lies in the roof. The question as to who is responsible for this condition can not be answered. Who designed the dwelling? Did he

YOST THEATER

"Beau Geste," master screen production, taken to the hearts of Santa Ana screen lovers as avidly as the novel of the same name by Major P. C. Wren was grasped by book lovers, enters its last night at the Yost theater tonight, with no diminution in the enthusiasm of its large audiences.

"Beau Geste" brings a new motif to the screen—fraternal affection and sacrifice. It is a beautifully done photoplay, one that has action, galore, romance, mystery and almost perfect acting.

Noah Beery as Serg. Lejanne offers a superlative character portrayal while Ronald Colman's interpretation of "Beau" Geste is admirable. Neil Hamilton, as Beau's brother Digby Geste, and Ralph Forbes, the youngest brother, John; Alice Joyce as Lady Brandon, their aunt; Mary Brian, as John's sweetheart, Isabel; Norman Trevor, as de Beaujolais and William Powell, as Boldini, have the principal parts.

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS

One of the season's successes, from a comedy standpoint, is the rural comedy drama, "The Love Test," playing this week at Murphy's theater at Orana.

"The Love Test," as produced by Murphy's Comedians, is well cast, C. Wm. Booth and Miss Gibbs playing the leads. Jimmie Malone, as the "big town" crook, does himself credit, as does Miss Murphy in the part of the Broadway show girl. George Mathison, as the banker, and Miss Augusta Pierce as the lovable mother, are both exceptionally good. James Worsley has the part of "mama's boy."

Two new acts are in the cast now—Harry Brackett and Champion Nixon, and both seem good additions. Herbert M. Shelley is a scream in another comedy character part.

of filler will be packed each day. The company has a good foreign business. Japan, Holland, New Zealand and England being the chief foreign customers, he said.

Included in the plant here will be a cold storage plant 40 by 100 feet in size. This will enable the company to operate throughout the entire year and make the company independent of citrus picking seasons.

It is understood that the company will continue to operate the Anaheim plant.

"Considering the lot, building and equipment, our investment in Santa Ana will approximate $75,000," Mr. Murray said. "Ours is a going concern and the business is getting better every month."

According to Murray, the officers of the company decided to locate in Santa Ana because of the strategic location of the city and because of requests by various business men of the community.

Officers of the company are as follows: President, Frank A. Murray, Hollywood; vice president, Frank Waters, Los Angeles; secretary, E. A. Bennett, Altadena; directors, Dr. J. Robert Sanford, Los Angeles; J. A. Rasmussen, Los Angeles, and G. Rudolph, Walnut Park.

DRY GATHERING POSTPONED FOR LACK OF CROWD

Because of apparent lack of public interest in the proposal, an organization campaign, to have been launched here yesterday by the Prohibition party, was postponed, inquiries revealed.

The meeting, called by J. C. Bell, of Los Angeles, state secretary of the Prohibition party, had been set for 2:30 p. m., at the office of the board of supervisors. After waiting about half an hour for a crowd to appear, Bell took the floor and announced postponement of the proposed campaign meeting. In addition to Secretary Bell and O. U. Hull, of Maywood, until recently of Orange, state treasurer of the party, the audience was limited to a few persons.

Secretary Bell expressed his disappointment at the poor showing, which, he added, was a surprise to him, as he had been told that Orange county is classed as one of the dry counties of the state. He admitted, however, that the slight interest shown in the meeting might have been due to lack of publicity and individual campaign work among the dry leaders in the county.

According to Bell, it is the intention of his party to organize central committees in every county of the state. He called attention to the fact that both the Republican and the Democratic parties are taking but a lukewarm interest in the prohibition issue and the successful enforcement of the 18th amendment.

This attitude on the part of the two leading parties, Bell continued, makes it necessary for the Prohibitionists to depend on their own efforts.

Have You Seen San Clemente
The Spanish Village?

If you have not, you are cordially invited to make the trip any day. Come and enjoy the most glorious view of the grand old blue Pacific, the Seal Rocks, San Clemente and Santa Catalina Islands; a glorious sandy beach where bathing is indulged in every day in the year.

Visit our magnificent Spanish Clubhouse, where bi-monthly dances, musicales and other social affairs are being held regularly. Be Mr. Hanson's guest at the Big Tent and enjoy a well-cooked luncheon followed by an instructive talk on early days in California.

OLE HANSON

Drive along the lovely winding streets and view the numerous lovely little homes, all of Spanish architecture; the ornamental trees, shrubbery and flowers.

Phone any of Mr. Hanson's representatives in Santa Ana and they will gladly drive you down to San Clemente.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once. Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief. As effective as the messy old mustard plaster; does the work without blister. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief. At the first sign of a cold in the head take Musterole Cold Tablets. They usually give prompt relief.

IF TOO FAT DO THIS NOW

Try the method which combats the cause—the modern, scientific method. No abnormal exercise or diet is required. Try Marmola Prescription Tablets. They have been used for 19 years. You see the results in slender figures wherever you look today. So many have proved them that the demand has grown to very large proportions. Watch the fat disappear, watch your vigor increase. You will be delighted. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Each box contains a pamphlet to explain results. Get them and show your slender friends have done. You owe that to yourself.

MORTHLAND IS RENAMED HEAD OF PLANE CLUB

Berle Morthland was re-elected commodore of the Santa Ana Air club at the annual election of the club, held last night at a meeting in the Finley hotel. Morthland has piloted the air club through its first year. A public birthday party will be held in the American Legion hall, February 23, to celebrate the single candle event.

Johnny Martin was renamed rear commodore and E. C. Hammond vice commodore at last night's session. J. O. York, of Eddie Martin's airport, was elected secretary, to succeed Miss Borghill Stephens.

Plans for the birthday party were outlined last night. Lt. Leslie Arnold, one of the American aviators who made the round-the-world flight, and T. C. Young, chairman of the aeronautics committee of Kiwanis International and chairman of the aviation committee of the California Development association, have been procured as speakers, it was announced.

A large attendance at the party is anticipated. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. Reservations may be made with York.

Duffy, Wills To Mix Next Tuesday

OAKLAND, Calif., Feb. 10.—Jimmy Duffy, of Oakland, and Young Harry Wills, of San Diego, today signed articles for a bout at the Oakland auditorium next Tuesday night.

The bout will take the place of one scheduled for last week in which Duffy "ran out" because he objected to the referee selected. He was fined $500 for his attitude, and his manager a similar amount.

The elephant can neither trot, canter, nor gallop, nor can it make the smallest spring in a vertical or horizontal direction.

2 CANDIDATES ARE NAMED BY CITIZENS' BODY

The Citizens' association having selected Joseph Dismukes, retired farmer and real estate man, of 1508 West Eighth street, as their candidate for the city council from the fifth ward, in the April elections, other ward leaders of the association today are making plans for holding meetings in their respective wards this week, or early next week, for the purpose of selecting other candidates, it was learned today.

Dismukes was selected Tuesday night, at a meeting of about 40 voters, held in the home of Charles Heinrich, 905 West Washington avenue. He is the first candidate for the city council known to have been named by the association, which was organized here several weeks ago.

Will Oppose Purinton
Dismukes likely will oppose Frank Purinton, incumbent, in the race in the fifth ward, Purinton having announced several weeks ago that he would seek re-election.

All candidates will be introduced at a mass meeting of the association, scheduled for February 23, at which time members of the association, as a whole, will be given an opportunity to endorse those selected by the various ward leaders, it was intimated today by leaders in the organization.

Dismukes was present at the meeting held in the Heinrich home and virtually admitted that he would make the race, it was said. He told those gathered at the meeting that he would run unless some other man was found in the ward whom the Citizens' association considered a better man for the position.

"I would rather some other candidate be selected in the fifth ward, as I have no particular desire to make the race," Dismukes said today.

Dismukes has been in Santa Ana for the last 12 years. He has been in retirement much of that time, but at one time was active in the real estate business.

Smith For School Board
The men who met in Heinrich's home Tuesday night selected R. R. Smith, 1101 West Washington avenue, as their candidate for election to the school board from the fifth ward. The nomination of Smith is the first announcement of a candidate to represent the association for a position other than on the city board of trustees.

Leaders of the movement said today that officers, other than the city council and school board had not been discussed by the executive committee and that they were of the opinion that the association would take no action in regard to the offices of city marshal and city clerk.

Only five men have ever held the rank of general in the American army—Washington, Grant, Sherman, Sheridan and Pershing.

J. C. STUDENTS WIN BATTLE TO RETAIN EDITOR

The executive board of the student body of the Santa Ana Junior college has voted to retain Theodore Jesse in the office of commissioner of publications. His case came yesterday afternoon. After three hours spent in quizzing witnesses, offering compromises and arguing the case, Jesse was retained.

The vote was 3 to 2 in favor of Jesse.

Those voting in favor of retaining him were Lon McIntire, Miss Elaine Smith and Kenneth Schroll. J. Russell Bruff, faculty advisor, and James Smith, student body president, voted to oust him.

Witnesses produced against Jesse claimed that Jesse had not devoted enough time to the Algor junior college year book, and that he failed to co-operate with the faculty.

Among those called were Miss Floy Donaldson, Miss Agness Miller and T. E. Williams, faculty advisors for the year book. Staff members of the Algor, including Miss Mydas Cappe, assistant editor; Allen Goddard, sports editor, and David Ross, art editor, were called in. The staff writers showed how their assignments on the year book were being carried out.

The contention was made that Jesse had his staff do all the work on the annual. Staff members denied this.

The proposal was offered by James Smith that the student body constitution be changed to allow Jesse to hold the editorship of the Algor but not the office of commissioner of publications. The compromise suggestion was not put into the form of a motion.

Faculty advisors for the Algor, year book at the Santa Ana Junior college have not sought to interfere in the plans of the students for the annual. L. L. Beeman said today when questioned concerning the controversy that has arisen over the move to oust Jesse, commissioner of publications.

Charges Dropped
Charges against Jesse have been dropped and the stand taken by the faculty was explained by Beeman.

"Some of the assertions that Jesse has made more progress on the year book and he is in advance of the work in former years is untrue," Beeman declared. As business advisor for the Algor, Beeman has supervised the issuing of contracts for previous publications and he said that contracts have been let each year about Christmas.

"The faculty advisors, I believe, are not trying to dictate to the Algor staff what they shall use in their annual. But with the experience that they have had, they realize the immensity of the work," Beeman continued. "It is necessary to keep a check on the expenditures in order to keep within the budget. All the plans have been unnecessarily held back until Jesse decides about the paper, number of pages and the amount of engraving."

Work Is Delayed
"So far as I know, little material has been turned over to Mr. Williams, our print shop instructor. With the school printing that has to be done regularly in the shop, it requires more time for Williams to do the printing on the college annual than it would in a publishing house."

"All that I have sought to do was to hasten Jesse in his work on the Algor," Beeman said that Jesse had refused to consult with the faculty advisors or benefit by the experience of former years.

Contracts for paper and other matters under the supervision of Judson Harmon, student business manager, and Beeman as business advisor, have been held up because Jesse had not developed his plans.

The first complete "dummy" was brought to college Monday where, as former editors have had such work finished in December, Beeman stated.

Boulder Dam Is Called Dire Need

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—People in the Imperial valley are willing to "declare a holiday for prayer or to get a million signatures to a petition" to get congress to pass the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill, according to a telegram received here from F. H. McIver, El Centro, secretary of the Imperial Irrigation district.

The message was addressed to Mark Rose and Charles L. Childers, who are here in the interests of the legislation.

"Never were the people more anxious over our bill than at this time," said the telegram. "It has become dire need in their eyes. Our office is waiting for advice as to proper demonstrations. Wire immediately."

Bear Hunting

By GEORGE BRIGGS

(Herewith, The Register presents the story of the most recent big game hunting expedition of George Briggs, Santa Ana sportsman. The article will appear daily in this newspaper.)

Sixty days before this I had extra provisions sent up and cached at the mouth of Lost creek. Two days later we arrived at this cache, re-arranged our packs, left a few things we didn't need and, swinging off from the hunter's trail, went up some 13 or 15 miles to the edge of timber-line and made a comfortable camp from which we were to hunt.

Before we selected a camp-site it began to sleet, then snow, but when we found a place that suited us we all pitched in and soon the tent was up, a fly spread, boughs brought for beds and things made snug.

We carried a little folding sheet-iron stove and this we found wonderfully comfortable on stormy days as on it we could always make a stew, fry meat and boil water for tea besides drying out our wet clothing and warming up the tent.

This is Caribou Barrens. From this camp, rolling hills, out here and there with small shallow depressions and brush covered in some places, broke away to higher ground for probably 15 miles and then from the plain, higher peaks and rough, rocky hills over which, in many places, it was hard to get a horse.

This was the caribou barrens and the white, close-lying moss was the feed that lured them.

Along the elevation of the camp was the last timber and in this were numerous lakes and bogs—the home of the moose. Grizzly bear made their home at the edge of the timber and frequently during the day went out into the barrens to hunt and dig out ground squirrels and gophers, for it wouldn't be long now before they hibernated for the long winter's sleep. There was plenty of feed for the horses and good wood for camp.

The next morning, September 14, was cold, with water frozen in the buckets and the lakes with a good skin of ice over them.

Timmons kills Moose

It was after 10 o'clock when we got the horses in and we started out and it was not later than 2 o'clock when Howard Timmons killed his moose and it proved the best head brought in to the telegraph creek this year. It not last, measuring 57 inches and with good palms.

The Casiar moose do not carry such heads as do the Kenal moose but the trophy was a most desirable one. While the spread was the largest in measurement and much the best on paper he and I agreed that the head killed by Mr. Frost, New York, was really the prettiest brought into the Casiar by any of the hunters this year—this on account of its heavy massive beams.

COUNTRY CLUB GOLFERS BEAT REDLANDS, 7-1

Santa Ana Country club mashie wielders took the Redlands Country club golfers into camp by winning seven of eight matches played on the local course yesterday.

Two of the matches were carried to extra greens in order to determine the winner.

Ed Holmes Jr. and Mark Lacy, "ace" team of the local aggregation, won from R. Hornly and W. S. Lincoln, but the visitors took the home pair to the nineteenth green.

Dr. M. A. Patton and L. D. Coffing had to play 20 holes before they won their match from H. M. Marsh and M. A. Hammer.

The results of the other six matches follow:

Hugh Smith and C. H. Way, (Santa Ana) won from W. B. Power and E. D. Fendleton 1 up; L. W. Bemis and J. K. McDonald, (Santa Ana) won from B. M. Boyd and L. R. Gay 1 up; George Shattuck and J. F. Parsons, (Santa Ana) beat J. Pierce and G. F. Humphrey, 1 up; A. W. Dula and M. D. Clark, (Santa Ana) beat C. S. Paine and B. A. Barbour, 1 up; X. Bartlett and W. J. Hartsell, (Redlands) beat G. A. Parker and J. S. Warner, 1 up; Lew Wallace and E. T. Mator, (Santa Ana) beat G. M. Bartlett and J. M. Harris, 1 up.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Eddie Roush of the Cincinnati Reds, will come to the New York Giants, and George Kelly, long a favorite with New York fans, and considered one of the best first basemen in the business, will go to Cincinnati, under the terms of a trade announced today.

JUNIORS GRAB EDGAR SHINES LEAD IN POLY AS FULLERTON TRACK BATTLE BEATEN AGAIN

Junior trackmen at the Santa Ana high school vaulted into the lead in the field event finals of the annual novice interclass meet by acquiring a total of 231-2 points to 211-2 points for the seniors yesterday. The championship hinged on the track events that were to be held today.

The sophomores were badly swamped by the upperclassmen, their total amounting to only four points at the conclusion of the field events. It was a sophomore, Donald Reither, the new student who enrolled here from Fullerton, who furnished the only sensation of the meet, however. Reither tied for first place in the high jump with Jerome, a senior, at 5 feet 4 inches. This was the best mark recorded during the afternoon.

An upset occurred in the javelin throw when Judson Riley, senior, grabbed a first that the juniors were counting on. Riley chucked the rod 122 feet 11 inches.

The juniors made a clean sweep in the broad jump, Lancaster, Hearn and Blakeney finishing one-two-three. They were close together with marks a little better than 18 feet. Joe Warner won the shot put with a throw of 36 feet 2-1/2 inches, the same distance at which he qualified. Hearn won the pole vault at 10 feet 3 inches.

The seniors won two first places through Riley's javelin throw and Charles Ehrhorn's discus toss of 94 feet 8 inches.

The results:

Shot put—Warner (J) won; Riley (Sr) second, Koral (Sr) third. Distance—36 feet 2 1/2 inches.

Discus—Ehrhorn (Sr) won; Duncan (J) second, Mustek (J) third. Distance—94 feet 8 inches.

Broad jump—Lancaster (J) won; Hearn (J) second, Blakeney (J) third. Distance—18 feet 5 1/2 inches.

High jump—Jerome (Sr) and Reither (Soph) tied for first, Ehrhorn (Sr) and Jacques (J) tied for third. Height—5 feet 4 inches.

Pole vault—Hearn (J) won, Hall (Sr) second, Blakeney (J) third. Height—10 feet 3 inches.

Javelin throw—Riley (Sr) won, Matthews (J) second, Rauenzahn (J) third. Distance—122 feet 11 inches.

Broad jump—Lancaster (J) won; Hearn (J) second, Blakeney (J) third. Distance—18 feet 5 1/2 inches.

Mary K. Browne Defeats Lenglen

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 10.—Mary K. Browne defeated Suzanne Lenglen, 6-3, in the only set the French star participated in at their professional appearance here last night. Mile. Lenglen was too ill with tonsillitis to play in the scheduled doubles match and left immediately for New York.

This year may be just 1927 to most checkbooks, bullish for the market on common and preferred ball scandals, and a banner one for juniper berry growers, but to a short and stocky little Scotchman across the waters, it means a reigning golf period that will thrill his seasoned old soul.

If you could see him in his blue trousers, and watch how his eyes light up eager as a boy's, you'd know why Sandy Herd—good old Sandy, with his tanned cheeks and his big, heavy mustache—is going to remember 1927.

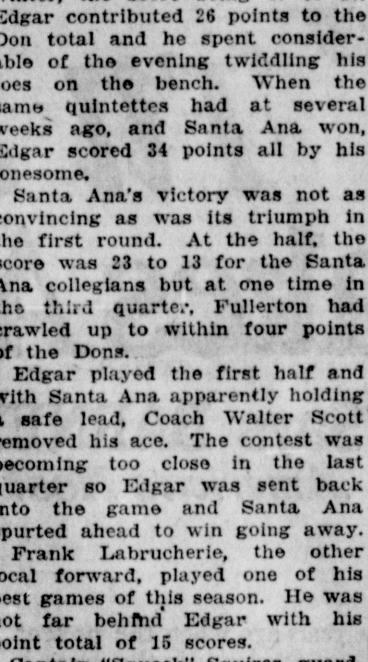

For Sandy, entering the fortieth active campaigning golf year of his life, is wearing the royal purple toga marking him as the champion of all British professionals at the ripe age of 59.

His is a record unparalleled in golf.

And now the British golf body in compiling the averages of the past year kindle another flame to warm the coals of his heart. His average for 16 rounds of major golf competition during 1926 was 75, according to the list just released. That shows his sensational 1926 victory in which he won the British pro title from a fast field of younger men including Abe

BABE RUTH SPURNS CONTRACT FROM YANKEES CALLING FOR SAME SALARY AS LAST YEAR

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 10.—Baseball may lose its greatest idol to motion pictures.

Babe Ruth reiterated here today that he has refused the contract mailed to him for the coming season and characterized the action of officials of the New York Yankees, as using "exceedingly poor judgment," in offering him $52,000.

"That is the identical sum I got last season and I have no intention of signing," Ruth said, at the same time announcing that he would mail the contract back to New York immediately and make plain to Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, that he was dissatisfied.

The home run king has already started the spring training grind on a movie lot, in preparation for his current opus "Babe Comes Home."

He refused to indicate what he would do if his demands were not met, other than to declare that he would quit baseball.

SYMPATHY OF FANDOM WITH BAMBINO IN HIS DEMANDS FOR SALARY OF $100,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The record salary given Ty Cobb by the Philadelphia Athletics for 1927 and a cryptic announcement by Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, have reawakened interest in the contract which soon will be offered Babe Ruth. Ruppert had little say when he told sports writers that none of his players would be permitted to report to the training camp of the Yanks at St. Petersburg until he had signed a contract.

While Herb Pennock, the slender pitcher, also has been unable to agree upon his annual wage, the announcement of the colonel was believed to be aimed directly at Ruth, now making a movie on the Pacific coast.

The Babe has about three weeks to finish posting for the camera and get his contract difficulties ironed out. The last detachment of Yanks will leave for St. Petersburg March 5 and the Babe's movie work will stop February 25.

That means the Babe must hop to New York from the coast, talk with Ruppert and prepare to leave for the south—all within eight days.

Ruppert insisted he has not conferred with his star slugger since the close of the season and hence Ruth cannot yet be classed as a holdout. His three year contract, calling for $52,000 a year, has expired and indications were that the Bambino will not

POLY MIDGETS FIGHT TO HOLD DIVISION LEAD

Three Santa Ana high school basketball teams swing into concentrated action tomorrow, two games being scheduled for Pasadena's floor and one for Andrews gymnasium here.

Coach Bill Foote's Poly varsity and Coach Lynn Crawford's Class C's will invade the fair of the Millionaires while Coach Howard Lutz's Class B's draw the only home engagement, a contest that will begin at 3:30 o'clock.

The imbroglio between the two Class C (110-pound) outfits has attracted the major interest of Santa Ana. Hoop followers because the "Little Men" are the lone Poly color bearers who have a chance for championship laurels. Santa Ana remains undefeated in its league in this division and a triumph over the dangerous Pasadena clan will keep Crawford's crowd at the head of its class. Pasadena has lost only once, a record equaled by Long Beach and Alhambra.

Crawford is expected to start his first string quintette—Hall, Sullivan, Gill, Watkins and Beal.

Santa Ana's varsity is hopelessly out of the titular race but Foote hopes to go through the remainder of the campaign sans defeat. If Poly "takes" Pasadena, there is good reason to believe his ambition will be realized for Pasadena is considered the most skilled ensemble in the circuit, Long Beach excepted.

Foote announced he would start Hogue and Jordan at forwards, Ehrhorn at center, and Sullivan and Dugger at guards.

The Poly '27 tribe must go against the Millionaire lighties without the services of Schuchardt and Beatty, dependable regulars, who are temporarily laid up with the flu. Consequently Lutz will probably start Smith, Fosdick, Youel, Brown and Dixon on his starting lineup.

Standings in the Class C race follow:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Santa Ana	4	0	1.000
Long Beach	3	1	.750
Alhambra	2	1	.667
Pasadena	2	1	.667
Glendale	1	2	.333
Whittier	0	3	.000
South Pasadena	0	4	.000

Great Mails Is Holdout; Angry As Pay Slashed

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—Walter Mails, San Francisco pitcher, and the "play boy" of the Coast league may be a holdover this year.

Two weeks ago the Seal owners presented him with a contract calling for a $1500 reduction in pay.

The Great Walter was indignant. "I'll dig ditches first," he said.

Mails pointed out to the Seal owners that he still was "the best looking player in the coast league, if not in all leagues," and a great drawing card for ladies at ball parks.

RIVER SURPLUS OWNERSHIP BY STATE FAVORED

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 10.—Surplus waters of California rivers would be made state property, and their conservation and distribution subject to state control, according to a proposed constitutional amendment recommended to the state legislature's water conservation committee here.

The proposed law would completely upset the recent Herminghaus decision, giving riparian water right owners exclusive use of the waters flowing by their land.

Other highlights of the water program were as follows:

1.—Creation of a state water tribunal appointed by Governor Young to hear, investigate and determine water right claims, and to fix compensation for taking water for public use.

2.—Calling a special election to ratify the proposed amendment, immediately after its passage by the state legislature.

The program, as outlined, has the full approval of Governor Young, who appointed the sub-committee to sift the legal phases of the water conservation program, it was declared.

An unusual feature of the proposed law giving the state ownership of its surplus waters is that it was written in collaboration with Supreme Justice J. E. Richards, who also wrote the Herminghaus decision. This was announced by Assemblyman Bradford S. Crittenden.

The recommendations originally were evolved by the legal committee, which included Fred G. Atchison, San Francisco; Justice W. M. Finch, Sacramento; former Justice Max C. Sloss, San Francisco; former Judge W. D. Tillotson, Redding, and Attorney General U. S. Webb.

This committee in turn reported to the subcommittee consisting of Senators J. M. Inman, of Sacramento, and H. C. Jones, San Jose, and Assemblyman Bradford S. Crittenden, who brought the matter before the general committee.

There is reason to believe that a none too husky gent from Illinois has grabbed a great big elephant by the tail and is threatening to swing it around his head and toss it into a cement wall as one might hurl a sock full of mud.

The Illinois gent is Frank I. Smith, senator-elect, and the elephant is the animal you see in the cartoons with the letters "G. O. P." embroidered on his hide.

There is also reason to believe that despite the bellowing of both Republican and Democratic leaders about "the principle of the thing," the whole Smith issue is now as thoroughly wrapped up in politics as a delirium tremens patient in his bedclothing.

It is just as difficult to believe that most Republican senators are deeply concerned with the sovereign right of a state to send any sort of a person to the senate as it is to believe that most Democrats are filled with a holy conviction that only men of honor and common decency should be allowed to sit in this self-alleged great body of statesmen.

You may recall that only as far back as the holidays, it was rather positively stated that only nine or ten senators would vote to seat the gent from Illinois who took a $125,000 campaign gift from Daddy Sam Insull while he was regulating the state's public utilities. When the vote came, Smith was supported by nearly four times that many votes.

That, it is rather to be assumed, was after the gent from Illinois had grabbed the great big elephant by the tail.

Senator Jim Watson, of Indiana, had held earnest converse with Smith in Chicago, urging him to keep out of Washington to avoid gumming up the works. What did Smith tell Senator Jim? It is an excellent bet that he told him he was going to raise merry Ned and that if any old elephant got in the road they had better look out for the Illinois bearcat.

Watson may have been reminded of Smith's threat to harp upon large sums of Coolidge campaign money contributed by tariff beneficiaries. Smith may even have promised to open up the whole question of campaign contributions and to try to make all hands prove that any such contribution was ever given by anyone who didn't expect to get something or other in return.

The second big twist which Smith undoubtedly administered is a threat to maintain his position as a senator-elect in the next congress. It is not incumbent upon him to resign merely because he is refused admission. The state of Illinois is officially behind him to the last ditch. And if Smith stays in-home next winter, unable to get in and refusing to get completely out, the thin Republican majority of one senator will be lost.

Smith's chances of being seated and kept in by the 70th congress are even slimmer than his chances with the 69th.

It may be that the regular Republicans feel that if they can show Smith that they have made the hardest possible fight for him, they can convince him that he should be good fellow enough to listen to reason and not be stubborn enough to nullify the party's control of congress.

The latest threat of Smith's friends, however, is to carry the case to the supreme court. And if you want a third suggestion for Smith's means to twist the elephant's tail, you may remember that Illinois Republicans have 60 votes in the next national convention and that just now Illinois Re-

AUTOISTS PAY MILLIONS FOR ROAD REPAIRS

(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 10.—California's 1,641,551 motorists paid a total of $6,913,700 in 1926 toward the maintenance and repair of county highways, it was declared by Frank G. Snook, chief of the division of motor vehicles.

The sum apportioned was the largest in the history of the state, exceeding 1925 by $407,481, while motor vehicle registrations gained 11 per cent, or 164,545 vehicles.

Of the total receipts, $3,721,414 was paid directly to the state highway commission for use on roads. Counties received a like sum, but $529,129.05 was deducted for salaries and expenses of traffic officers.

Los Angeles county, with a total registration of 446,907 received $1,464,096.56, the largest sum paid any county. San Francisco, with registrations of 128,290 vehicles, received $292,089.45, and Alameda county, registering 129,644 vehicles, received $245,211.55.

Other county apportionments for the year included:

Fresno, $127,182.23; Glenn, $10,515.60; Imperial, $46,232.28; Kern, $76,862.05; Kings, $20,689.78; Madera, $12,551.09; Merced, $25,515.53; Monterey, $30,305.98; Orange, $90,379.03; Riverside, $56,147.25; San Bernardino, $52,941.09; San Diego, $136,780.08; San Joaquin, $76,531.24; San Luis Obispo, $21,837.81; Santa Barbara, $45,689.55; Solano, $25,235.50; Sonoma, $52,074.48; Tehama, $11,040.32; Tulare, $62,646.29; Ventura, $37,137.74.

Doc Grandall and Art Griggs, two veterans of the major leagues who recently have been performing on the Pacific Coast circuit, are said to be eyeing the Wichita franchise of the Western league, which Frank Isbell will let go if he gets his price.

The aggregate cost of obtaining Ty Cobb Rogers Hornsby, This Speaker, George Sisler, Eddie Collins, Joe Jackson, Grover Alexander and Roger Peskinpaugh was less than the majority of these players drew down in later years for playing one season.

It is understood that Cleveland, Philadelphia and Baltimore will endeavor to secure berths in the National Hockey league next season, provided that organization decides to expand the American end of its circuit.

In 1919 the New York American league club, it is said, just about broke even financially. The next year, with Babe Ruth in the lineup, the Yankees cleaned up $600,000 more than any other club in the league.

COWBOY PEER FINDS LIFE IN ENGLAND DULL

MORCHARD BISHOP, Eng. Feb. 10.—Oliver Henry Wallop, 65-year-old American citizen, known here on his North Devon estate as the earl of Portsmouth, is quietly bidding his time to take a seat in the house of lords after punching cattle for 40 years on the American prairie.

Earl Portsmouth, better known among the ranchers of Wyoming as "O. H.," succeeded to the title last year and immediately came from the United States to claim his estates.

"I shall take my seat in the house of lords as soon as ever I can, but I think the odds are against me," he said. "For instance, I shall have to reside here four or five years. I am told, and shall have to get out naturalization papers and all that—I became an American citizen in 1906.

Owes Debt to America

"I shall not forget that I owe America a debt of gratitude. After living in a country for more than 40 years, you rather take root in it, you know. I was 22 years of age when I went to America; it was just the spirit of adventure that took me out there. Those were the good old ranching days and there were, of course, hardships, but nobody considered them so then because everybody had to suffer them. From May 15 to October 15, everyone made his bed on the ground without a tent on the open prairie.

"I shall go there for three or four months every year. You see I know pretty well every man, woman and boy in Wyoming, and elsewhere, too. They know me; 'O. H.' they call me over there. In the old days with the shifting population, you got to know everybody. I have a boy at Yale—playing polo.

Plenty of Diversion on Ranch

"Wyoming is an extraordinary happy and light-hearted country. I had all the amusement I wanted there keeping my ranch—up at 5:30 in the morning—waptit shooting, deer, a few bear and grouse, and trout fishing, whereas here in England sport is whittled down to the mere shooting of pheasants."

The earl has the work of the future deeply at heart, but is at a loss as to what he will do. When he first went to British Columbia, he had to tramp 250 miles along a newly-made rail track, which he said was real hard work, and now he is looking around for some hardships and work, to pass away a tedious time.

"I'll Say It Makes A Difference

Says BARNEY OLDFIELD
America's Most Famous Driver

"ABOUT three years ago when the present Ethyl fluid was developed in the research laboratories of General Motors, I was one of the first drivers to try it out. The difference it made in the operation of my car was almost unbelievable. I've used it ever since and will continue to use it.

"The greatest advantage of the Ethyl fluid is that it completely eliminates the troubles that carbon causes. With ordinary gasoline the carbon that piles up in your engine causes knocking and overheating. This carbon increases the compression ratio of your car; and for some reason, which science has yet been unable to discover, knocking takes place when this compression ratio reaches a certain point.

"Ethyl takes out the knock. The result is more pep, more revolutions per minute.

"I've made several transcontinental trips in the last three years, always with Ethyl in my tank. I wouldn't be without it on these long drives. It takes my Marmon up hills faster, gives me a smoother, more even flow of power all the way.

"Yes, racing cars have Ethyl in their tanks. As a matter of fact, Ethyl made it possible to put the low cubic inch displacement motors on the boards. Ethyl fluid has been used in every big A. A. A. race for the past four years.

"Yes, the government has adopted it. The British Air ministry, too. Ethyl is used in every airplane and dirigible that England owns.

"I'll say it makes a difference. Westerners have some real thrills in store for them the first time they try Ethyl gasoline."

So says Barney Oldfield, dean of America's racing drivers and acknowledged authority on automotive performance.

Have Your Carburetor Checked

Many motorists find that they get even greater power and pick-up from Union-Ethyl gasoline by making a slight adjustment in their carburetor and spark control.

So when you fill today with Union-Ethyl, we suggest you have these slight adjustments made. Then you'll be sure to enjoy the maximum benefit from this marvelous motor fuel.

Don't Miss It

Union Gasoline has always been an outstanding non-detonating fuel for motor cars. It exerts greater power with less "knock" and vibration than ordinary detonating gasoline.

We've added the famous Ethyl fluid to our Union non-detonating gasoline.

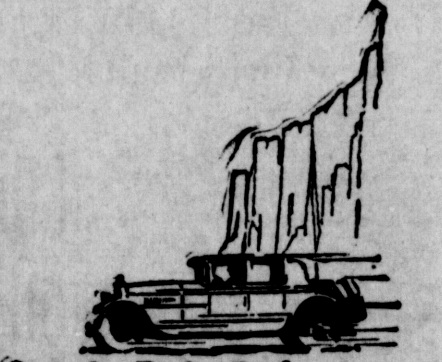

The combination, Union-Ethyl, is the finest motor fuel you can buy.

Put it in your tank. Enjoy the new thrills that it provides.

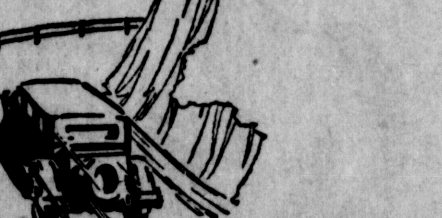

More power on hills, reduced vibration, smoother engine performance, less gear shifting, quicker acceleration and a complete absence of knocking.

A cooler, swifter, sweeter motor than you've ever known before.

Fill your tank today, wherever you see the striped pump and Union-Ethyl sign.

Sketches By Kroesen
Synopsis By Braucher

For hundreds of miles from the lands of the Dakota Minnetarees the explorers poled and towed their way. It was their good fortune to meet no Indians, but the country was full of grizzly bears and rattlesnakes. Often the bears even swam out to attack the boats of the explorers.

One day Lewis was charged by buffaloes and escaped a grizzly by leaping into the river. He awoke next morning with a rattler coiled at his head.

The expedition came upon a river pouring into the Missouri which they called the Milk, because of its whiteness.

Lewis, scouting by himself one day in advance of the party, came upon the Great Falls, and only then was sure that Sacajawea's advice at every fork had been right—the party had held to the Missouri. The explorers gave a cheer when they saw the cascades.

THE TINYMITES
BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The stick the Tinies got was long, and Clowdy said, "There's nothing wrong in having just a bit of fun. The alligator's tame. Go on and poke him in the side." But when this very thing was tried, the alligator looked, I guess, to see who was to blame.

Said Scouty, "We had best look out. I've heard it said they swish about and try to hit you with their tail. Perhaps he's getting mad. I think I'll stay away because, I see he has quite monstrous jaws. If he could catch us in them we would not be very glad."

"Course Clowdy thought that he was brave, and so he let Wee Scouty race. Said he, "Don't be a-raidy cat. No harm can really come. What say we gather up a bunch of leaves and then I've got a bunch 'till please the alligator if we all will feed him some."

They all did just as Clowdy planned and found some palm leaves near at hand. Then Coppy questioned, "Who will do the feeding? Not for me!" Once more wee Clowdy laughed out loud. "Why I'm the bravest of the crowd. Just watch how easy I can do the feeding stunts, said he."

He took some leaves and said, "Here goes." But then, he jumped back, goodness knows, for Mister Alligator opened up his jaws real wide. His mouth was ugly, deep and long. Each tooth was like a wicked prong. "Oh, everybody run to save your lives," scared Scouty cried.

Of course the others knew enough to start to run, and like a puff of wind they scampered over the ground as frightened as could be. The alligator took up chase, and fright shown on each Tinies' face. That they were in for trouble they could very plainly see.

BEAUTY CHATS
BY EDNA KENT FORBES

SOME HINTS

Here are some hints that you may find useful for making yourself look more attractive when you're not a great deal of time to spend over the process. Being a very busy person myself I have tried to reduce all these beautifying processes to the simplest form. I have also tried to emphasize ways of achieving an effect with only a little amount of trouble.

For instance, your hair is looking dull and oily and you have not time for a shampoo or a wave. If you are wise enough to keep some powdered orris root in your bathroom you can give yourself a dry shampoo in about five minutes that will leave your hair clean and fluffy, and practically as glossy as though it had had a soap and water shampoo. If possible buy the powdered orris in airtight cans. If you can't get it that way, buy it by the ounce and save your old talcum powder cans to keep it in.

Sift a generous amount over the hair and rub it through with the finger tips, then begin brushing it out, parting the hair here and there and brushing away from the part. Wipe the brush off on a soft towel to keep it clean and in a short time all the powder will be out of your hair. You will find any number of dry shampoos advertised, but I have never found anything better than plain powdered orris, which does not cling to the hair and which possesses a faint and delightful fragrance.

Another trick for making the hair look well when it has become lank and stringy is to give it a quick water wave. Wet your comb and run it over the surface of the hair until it is fairly wet, then pinch it into marcel waves with the fingers. Tie a veil or a hairnet over it, pinching the waves again into place under the net. Then dry quickly before a hot fire or out in the sun. When it is finally done the wave will not stay in more than a day or so, but you have your immediate effect.

Nancy K.—There is still no better method of getting rid of superfluous hair than to have the separate conspicuous hairs destroyed by the electric needle and the finer hairs bleached or left alone.

Many women keep their skins cleared of this annoyance by using the tweezers for the hairs that show above the surface. This means repeated efforts as you will have to watch for stray hairs every week, but after all, you are not wasting money on experiments. Extracting these hairs with blunt end tweezers will mean that you get below the surface so it will take some time before there is evidence of it again, and you do not increase the tendency to hair growth, which is what happens whenever you use depilatories.

BREAKFAST—Baked apples, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon, fried cornmeal mush, syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Mock sausages, creamed celery, new onions, rye bread, sliced oranges, coconut cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Boiled fish with egg sauce, plain boiled potatoes, ten-minute cabbage, head lettuce with Thousand Island dressing, bran fluffs, open apricot pie, milk, coffee.

Stewed dried apricots are rubbed through a colander to remove the skins. Orange juice and sugar are added "to taste" and the mixture is used to fill a baked pie shell. Whipped cream is piled over the top and a delicious dessert results.

Mock Sausages
One-half cup dried lima beans,

1 cup fine dried bread crumbs, 1-2 cup chopped nut meats, 3 tablespoons melted butter, 1 egg, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-3 teaspoon pepper, milk.

Soak beans in cold water to more than cover for three hours. Drain. Cook in boiling water to which 1-4 teaspoon soda has been added for ten minutes. Drain and rinse in cold water. Return to sauce pan and pour over boiling water to cover. Simmer until tender. Drain and rub beans through a strainer. Add crumbs, nuts, egg slightly beaten, melted butter, salt and pepper. Mix well and add milk to make moist. Shape in the form of frankfurters, roll in crumbs, brush over with melted butter and brown in a hot oven.

LITTLE BABY

Little baby, little baby, in your mother's arms today
With her glad face ever ready to kiss every tear away,
And your dadd, sitting near
Just pretending not to hear
All the pretty things and lovely that you're struggling so to say,
What a most important person you have grown to, anyway!

Little baby, little baby, you're so helpless and so small
Yet I'll vow, you tiny tyrant, that you rule and own us all.
For we're either up or down
As you smile or as you frown

And we drop our tasks to serve you at your slightest beck and call;
At the first wee cry you utter we come racing down the hall.

Little baby, little baby, it's your praises that we shout
It's of you and all your doings that we ever talk about,
To your mother and to me
You are all we seem to see,
You're our most important topic now beyond the slightest doubt,
But you've made a nuisance of us every time that we go out.

Queer Quirks of
- NATURE -

ALERT GUARDIAN OF HIS PRAIRIE HOME

BY ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.

Anyone who has traveled through Montana, Wyoming, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona or Utah, and for the first time has come upon a prairie dog village, is tremendously impressed.

In western Texas it is said there is one continuous colony about 250 miles long and 100 miles wide. This must be the capital and largest city combined of prairie dogdom.

And if one can judge by the apparent earnest conferences that seem to be going on among the occupants of the various hillocks, there are many matters of state being settled—a regular town meeting it would be called in New England.

There is nothing of the dog about this little creature, which is a close relative of the woodchuck and the ground squirrel, and with them make up a large subfamily of the squirrel family called the "arctomyiinae." It really named itself because of its short sharp bark.

The animals pop into their burrows with lightning-like rapidity when an intruder draws near.

After the visitor has retired to a discreet distance, they cautiously emerge and watch him. Their burrows extend down as many as a dozen or more feet. From this shaft a tunnel is run from which an apartment occasionally opens for the storage of food or the accommodation of young prairie dogs.

Occasionally weasels, badgers and snakes invade the burrows in search of their plump little bodies, which, evidently are toothsome dainties to them.

SHE DOES THE WORK OF 53 MEN

BY VIRGINIA SWAIN
For NEA Service

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Ruth Muzzy Conniston is holding down the job of not one man—but 53.

She is the only woman carillon player in America and temporarily the mistress of one of the finest sets of church chimes in the world, the $600,000 bells given to the Park Avenue Baptist church by John D. Rockefeller Jr., in memory of his mother.

And she controls 53 bells, each one of which would require a man bell ringer, under the old system of playing chimes, such as obtains in England even today.

Her slender feminine hands operate a keyboard of levers connected with bells ranging in weight from 20 pounds to 10 tons. The largest bell has a clapper weighing 300 pounds, but it knows its master—or mistress, rather. When Mrs. Conniston strikes the lowest lever, the huge clapper leaps to obedience.

This job of carillon playing has always been considered too arduous for a woman. Mrs. Conniston admits that it is grueling work—and an excellent weight reducer. She loses several pounds a month, consistently, on a fattening diet!

But she does not recommend carillon playing to every woman who wants to get thin. Tennis, golf, rolling exercises and a starvation diet are less wearing on the nerves—and the hands, she says.

For despite her rubber gloves with their heavy padding, Mrs. Conniston keeps her hands in a constant state of abrasion, by the impact upon the ball levers. And what a job it is for splinters! They cling to her little fingers as filings cling to a magnet.

But the job has its compensations. High up above Park Avenue, in her little watch tower alone, Ruth Conniston has the thrilling pleasure of sending her music out through space to all the dwellers of North Manhattan, as a voice of peace and serenity and faith in the midst of bleak materialism.

Automobiles almost block the streets below at the hour when the chimes are expected to play. And throughout the city, and the country, for that matter, millions of listeners hear her music on the radio, broadcast at 7 o'clock each Sunday evening by WJZ.

This carillon playing offers a wide chance for satisfaction to the ego! And anybody who has mastered it has an excellent right to that satisfaction. For the carillon musician is strictly "on his own" when he takes up the art. There are practically no precedents, and no music written for the instrument.

Mrs. Conniston is obliged to improvise her own accompaniment to every hymn she plays. And there are specific problems of composition.

Hammering Out 10-Ton Notes

Mrs. Ruth Conniston

For one thing, the bells can be Having struck one note, the player started but they cannot be stopped, must not strike others that will make a discord with it, until the first note's vibrations have died away.

Then, too, there is the question of overtones. A bell note is not a pure tone. It is compounded of many vibrations above and below the main tone, and these vibrations will interfere with harmony of later chords, unless the player is very skillful.

The best music for the carillon is rich in arpeggios and broken chords, with a strong, simple melody. Here, too, the instrument is different from others. The melody is carried in the deep, rich notes of the bass, while the smaller bells higher in the scale ripple out the accompaniment.

Uses Hands and Feet
The musician uses both hands on the upper keyboard, and both feet on the lower, much as in a pipe organ. But the strenuous movement from side to side, to reach the notes, is combined with the strain of striking them with the exact amount of force needed to get the right effect.

"I feel every tone clear up to my shoulders," Mrs. Conniston explains. "The vibration in my arms is the only check I have on the volume of the notes I am sending out, for I hear my own music very imperfectly, because of the position of the bells."

In the present tower, the bells are scattered on several levels, above and below the little chamber where the player sits. When Mrs. Conniston strikes a high note, the small bell high above her head may be scarcely audible through the walls of the chamber.

Bells Almost Deafen
But when she strikes the ten-ton bell at the bottom of the scale, the impact from its monstrous bulk, just outside her window, almost deafens her.

The levers do not control the bells electrically, but with a mechanism of successive rods, so that Ruth Conniston's hand striking the lowest lever actually moves the clapper of the ten-ton bell.

An organist on vacation at $899
An organist by vocation, Mrs. Conniston received her bachelor of arts degree at Yale University, and subsequently studied under Louis Vierne, blind organist of Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris.

In addition to her strenuous work on the carillon she is also organist at the Christian Science church next door, and must plan the musical program of both churches to permit her to run from one to the other between numbers.

So that perhaps one should say she holds the job of not 53 men—but 54!

CITRUS DEMAND NOW EXCEEDED BY SHIPMENTS

The present period is the most critical in the season's marketing program, according to Dana C. King, orange sales manager of the California Fruit Growers' exchange, in letters received today by Santa Ana and Orange county members of the association.

"Florida shipped about 1150 cars of oranges last week and estimates shipments of 1300 to 1400 cars this week, which means that the supply of California and Florida oranges shipped the week ending February 5 totaled about 2400 carloads, with a similar quantity in prospect for the week ending Saturday, unless California shippers change their ideas," said King. "These figures exceed those of previous years by several hundred cars. Last year total shipments for the first week in February amounted to 1266 cars and for the second week 1599 cars."

The heavy shipments from Florida reach eastern markets in five to six days, about a week earlier than shipments from California make at the same time, according to King.

Decline Is Expected

Earlier advice of extreme Florida shipments from Field Manager Ramsey, of the exchange, who was sent to Florida to report the situation, is said to have been borne out by later reports from Florida shippers. The opinion in Florida seems to be that after the very heavy movement during the week ending February 12, shipments rapidly will decline. The unprecedented drought in Florida is causing heavy dropping of much of the frost free fruit left on the trees, so that it is impossible to hold back orange shipments.

"It is to both California's and Florida's advantage for us to keep supplies more nearly in line with consuming demand," said King. "Even with the great loss of shipments from Florida, the total supply of oranges for the balance of the season will be about comparable with that of last year. Recognizing our large crop in California, we still must all realize that the surest way to reduce returns is to force us to sell it 'under pressure,' instead of keeping the supply just in line with the demand, which manner of distribution has brought gratifying results on the large quantities of California oranges moved so far this season."

Cold Weather Interferes
Another angle of the situation just at this season of the year brought out by King in his letter is the interference of cold weather with normal demand and distribution.

He said: "Many of us familiar with weather conditions in the middle west and east know that this is the season when there may be no local shipments of perishable fruits for three or four days or a week because of extreme cold, which means greatly lowered consumption of oranges in that section. And because the family had no orange juice for breakfast for a week doesn't mean that they will drink two glasses each when the regular supply is renewed."

"Excellent demand for California oranges continues and prevailing prices have been satisfactory enough to encourage heavy shipments, but I feel strongly that California shippers will be confronted with a much less desirable market unless supplies are kept within proper limits for the next few weeks."

Tax Decision Lost By Rudy's Estate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Rudolph Valentino's estate has lost a $1591 tax decision before the board of tax appeals.

The appeal was filed by Valentino before his death, last August. The film star sought to escape taxation on $12,000 paid in 1922 to Jean Acker, his first wife, from whom he had just been divorced.

Attorneys for Valentino argued the $12,000 paid to Jean Acker for relinquishing her rights to one-half of her husband's income under the California community property laws was a "business loss," and therefore deductible.

The board overruled this contention.

GUIDANCE FOR YOUTH SEEKING WORK IS URGED

Recounting that there are many men and women in this nation who believe that civilization is on the toboggan, Mrs. Jean Morris Ellis, character analyst and vocational guidance expert with the Y. M. C. A., in Los Angeles, in an address before the Kiwanis club meeting yesterday, declared her belief that with the guidance of men of religious tendencies and with proper vocational guidance of the youth, the slide can be halted, the toboggan tilted upward and civilization saved.

Delivering an entertaining and interesting talk on vocational guidance, its manner of application and possible results, Mrs. Ellis took her auditors into many fields in which the value of guidance can be demonstrated.

Pointing out that the purpose of vocational guidance is to "place the man in the right place," directing him in the vocation which his physical and educational qualities indicate him best suited for, the speaker asserted that it is not impossible to develop facilities each individual has for some certain activity and emphasized the value and importance of the youth taking advantage of the facilities offered by character analysts for "finding himself" and directing his future life.

Congratulates Kiwanis Club
Mrs. Ellis stressed the importance of adults giving attention to the youth and advising him whenever and wherever opportunity offers. She congratulated the Kiwanis club here on plans it has suggested for business men of this community assisting young men and women in finding their proper places in the business world.

The club has suggested that members in business offer to students of the high school and junior college here their counsel in regard to vocations and to form an organization to which pupils wanting employment for which they are best fitted may apply for work.

"If every man here would take under his wing a group of young boys and talk to them and let them make him their confidant, a wonderful work could be accomplished," Mrs. Ellis said. "The youth of generations has been crying out to the elders for help, and I am more than pleased to learn that the Santa Ana Kiwanis club is stretching out its hand to the youth of this city."

Must Be Tolerant
The speaker emphasized the necessity of being tolerant and commented on the fact that even in this day of liberal thinking, there are many persons who cannot listen to the opposition without "seeing red."

J. S. Hill was program chairman. In introducing the speaker, he pointed out that yesterday's meeting was under direction of the educational committee and that he had brought to the meeting a speaker who would teach Kiwanians something of value.

Accompanied on the piano by his wife, Reginald Taylor, of Anaheim, favored the Kiwanians with three vocal selections.

CLEANING UP THE THEATERS

Last night, warrants were served upon three managers of New York theaters on the ground that their shows were indecent. The arrests are part of a program of cleaning up the New York stage of indecencies and raw profanity.

New York is credited with being the fountain-head for the wave of unsavoryness that has swept over the legitimate and vaudeville stages of the country.

Perhaps it was this same wave that brought about the request by the Santa Ana Ministerial association lately for re-institution of a local censor commission. That association referred particularly to vaudeville acts in which girls appeared in extremely slight attire and in which the element of art cannot be detected. Unnecessary profanity has come in for its share of condemnation.

New York theater managers recognized that the responsibility to rid their places of business of indecencies, vulgarity and profanity rested upon them. They themselves undertook the clean-up that was inevitable, even in New York. The law was brought into play yesterday against those few managers who failed to clean up.

WINTER IRRIGATION

Orchardists are being urged by the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company to make use of the streams of the company for winter irrigation. There is water available at this time, and can be had on demand. Later, when the dry months arrive, water will be in limitation.

Old-timers remember when there was very little winter irrigation. Some growers did not think it time to irrigate until leaves began to curl. Gradually, it was learned that winter irrigation put the trees in better shape than if they were allowed to pass through the winter and spring with no water excepting that that came in rain. Winter irrigation cuts down the amount needed to carry the trees through the summer in good shape. Winter irrigation costs 40 cents an hour for a head of water, and the same head will cost $1 an hour next summer. Moreover, water that is spread upon land is not lost, while that running into the sea is pure waste.

From his pictures, John D. Rockefeller seems to have the longest face in America. And from his account books, the longest head.

CHILD LABOR BACKSLIDING

A bill which would "enlarge the working opportunities" of boys has been introduced in both houses of the New York state legislature. The measure is regarded as the beginning of an effort to break down the state child labor law and will be fought as such by the state federation of labor.

Enlarged opportunities for gainful employment are precisely what children under 16 years of age do not need, particularly if these opportunities permit the curtailment of schooling, of play time or of needed rest. Education and health, to say nothing of happiness, should come before earning in a boy's or girl's life. Ordinary working permits or certificates, wisely regulated and honestly dispensed, could take care of all the legitimate exceptions to that rule.

The introduction of such a bill in any state legislature, with its signs of a tendency to weaken child labor protection of children, bears out the fear of many thoughtful citizens that the denial of a federal law setting certain general standards might open the way to backsliding in some states with fairly good child labor laws and would greatly retard progress in backward states.

The United States and Mexico each want arbitration, provided the other will come right out and ask for it.

STAND-PAT IMMIGRATION

The action of the United States Senate in voting unanimously to extend the present immigration restriction quotas for another year has been called a "Nordic triumph." It is not necessarily that.

The continuance of the present quotas instead of the new plan proposed does prevent a sharp reduction in the number of admissible Germans, Irish and Scandinavians, who are mostly blonds of the vaunted Nordic type. On the other hand, it prevents the doubling of the admissible number of British, North Irish and Russians who are also mainly blonds and Nordics. Thus the "national origins" scheme, temporarily defeated, would not have made much difference in the relative proportion of Nordics, Alpines and Mediterraneans admitted, though it would make considerable difference to certain nationalities.

The Senate vote is little more than a stand-pat victory actuated by a desire to avoid trouble by keeping the immigrant situation as it is.

THE ARBOR DAY SEASON

Arbor days are not observed quite all the way around the calendar, though some states in the south do have them in October, November, December and January. For most of the states, however, Arbor day is observed in the spring. The season that is locally right for tree-planting is the season that should hold Arbor day.

The growth of interest in this special day is interesting and important. The more trees are talked about in schools and clubs, the more trees are planted in people's yards and on public property, the more growing trees are properly pruned and cared for, the better for the whole country.

Trees for shade, for beauty, for birds, for fruit, for timber and other uses, cannot be had unless people continue to take thought for them. If we simply used trees without caring for them or replacing them—as our policy was for a long time—we would find ourselves some time without trees.

So let the Tree day recitations and plantings and celebrations go on, participated in by as many children as possible. Children interested in trees today will probably retain that interest through life and will greatly advance in future years an intelligent national policy in behalf of trees.

It Is a Good Omen

San Francisco Chronicle

Superficial, indeed, would be that view which looks upon the action of the Veterans of the Philippine Revolution in expelling Quezon as merely a victory for Aguinaldo or as only a victory for him and the United States. While it is both of these it is yet more important as a victory for the Philippine peoples themselves, for the patient, unformed, voiceless multitude who have been politically exploited by Filipino agitators.

The vote of the veteran revolutionists brings into strong relief the characters of the two men heading the opposing native forces in the islands. The one is for giving the Philippine people the immeasurable advantage of American protection and guidance, the other is for a free hand to the politicians for the economic exploitation of the Philippine people and resources.

Aguinaldo embodied the very spirit of Filipino patriotism. He was the Jans Smuts of the islands. He led the irrepressible revolt against Spanish rule. After the American occupation he plunged into a hopeless war with the United States. Through unceasing campaigns he risked his life for his cause. In the meantime, Quezon, a Major in his army, walked into the American lines with his corporal's guard and surrendered without the firing of a shot.

It was San Francisco's picturesque soldier, General Funston, who finally captured Aguinaldo and who undoubtedly was a strong influence in bringing him to see that the peace and development of the far-flung and polyglot islands depended on American control, until such time as they shall develop the faculty of self-government. Through all the years since Aguinaldo has been a staunch supporter of the United States.

Seven hundred delegates, representatives of the forces who fought with him in the revolutions, voted on last Sunday their unanimous approval of Aguinaldo. And they voted just as unanimously to expel Quezon, the leader of the anti-American party in the Philippines. It looks like a good omen for the islands.

It is too much to hope that it may have a meaning to those Americans who continue to make the task of our Government in the Philippines more difficult by noisy chatter about an immediate independence that the island people do not now want and that they could not maintain a fortnight if they had it without the protection of the United States?

Takes a Different View

Riverside Press

One of the Los Angeles papers is featuring editorials from eastern papers in opposition to the Boulder dam project and they are all inspired by opposition to public ownership in any form. It is interesting to note, however, that editorial comments on the other side are never copied. Following is an editorial from the New York World which sounds a very different note from the arguments presented by the New York Times, the Philadelphia Public Ledger and other papers that are consistently opposed to government ownership of any public utility.

"Certain well organized power companies plainly intend to show that they can crack the whip over Congress. The test will come on the Boulder Dam bill, now favorably reported in the house and awaiting action.

"The companies now wish to destroy entirely the authority of the government to develop power, and force it to make private leases to the highest bidder. And who will the highest bidder be? Power companies. And if the government is deprived of the opportunity to turn to public operation in case private bids are too low, then there is absolutely no protection to the public interest. For the power companies can determine what they will give the government for the use of the vast property it has developed. And they can determine what they will charge the public for electric power.

"The issue here is precisely the same issue of adequate protection of public property which was at stake in the leases of Elk Hills and Teapot Dome. Congress will take the advice of the power interests and knock out the alternative of public operation only if it wants a first rate scandal involving the nation's greatest power asset in the west.

Make Friends By Service

Freano Republican

One avenue for improvement of our Latin American relations is shown by our present successes. Wherein do we meet with favor?

The reply to this is to be found in the article on this page by The Republican's Washington correspondent, Frederic J. Haskin. Mr. Haskin points to the greatly increased trade between Latin America and the United States. He also points out the different kinds of society in various Latin American communities, and shows that we have different degrees of success in each.

The success of trade is due to the fact that here we can give service, as well as seek profit. Profit is the reward of service, not the loot of opportunity. The Americans who go to Mexico or Central America, or Brazil or Peru, bringing gifts, will receive gifts in exchange. Those who go to occupy the mines or seize the forests, who "take possession," are going to be hated always, as they are hated now.

The Americans who go South with a determination to have something to offer for whatever they get will be welcomed, whether they go to lands that are purely white or that are darker. But some lands, because of social conditions, will be more prepared to take advantage of the trade services of applying Americans. We will have friends first, in these. We should seek friends everywhere, by the same good natured steps of offering service.

The Onlooker's Impression

Redlands Facts

The Citrus Institute, held in conjunction with the Orange Show each year, and this season the date being set for February 24, promises to be of great interest and profit. A number of prominent businessmen are to answer the question, "What would I do if I were an orange grower?"

Inasmuch as the citrus industry includes many men who are just as good financiers as the bankers are, and who have in addition to the information of the man of finance, their own peculiar information, perhaps not very much that is new will be developed. At the same time, we can always get something from the viewpoint of the other fellow.

We are apt to get into a rut, no matter what our business may be. And occasionally the looker-on sees something that will benefit us greatly, if we will lift ourselves out of our egotism and accept it. Anyway, the striving after knowledge is always beneficial.

The S. O. S.

The Seventh State

Oakland Tribune

"Will you walk a little faster
Said the whiting to the snail;
There's a porpoise just behind us
And he's treading on my tail."

In 1920 Massachusetts was singing such a strain and California was the one who traded close in population figures. Now, according to the federal estimates, it is Michigan who looks over her shoulder at a crowding California. In the six years this state has passed Massachusetts and is the seventh state in population, instead of the eighth. And it is rapidly overtaking Michigan.

In the country as a whole the population increase was 10.8 per cent while here it was 25.9 per cent. By July 1 our population, as the census bureau estimate puts it, will be 4,500,000, and the error, if there be one, is all on the side of conservatism.

Officially California is seventh with New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, and Michigan the only leaders. And Michigan will have to "walk a little faster" or it will be overtaken long before the 1930 census.

Worth While Verse

LOVE'S LANTERN
Because the road was steep and long
And through the dark and lonely land,
God set upon my lips a song
And put a lantern in my hand.

Through miles on weary miles of night
That stretch relentless in my way
My lantern burns serene and white,
An unexhausted cup of day.

O golden nights and nights like wine.
How dim your boasted splendors are.
Behold this little lamp of mine;
It is more starlike than a star!

—Joyce Kilmer.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was tawking to Mrs. Hews in the front room, and I smelt a swell smell coming out of the kitchen, and I looked in and our cook Nora was taking some little cakes out of the oven, being the best kind of cakes she makes only she don't hardly ever make them, and I thart, I went ask her for any, Ill ask ma instead, she's so bizzzy tawking to Mrs. Hews she'll say yes without knowing it.

And I went in the front room and Mrs. Hews was saying, Well, I wouldn't actually say you couldn't trust her, but I know one thing, and that is you cant bleeve a word she says.

That's a way I feel about her, she mite not axually do anything, but then on the other hand she has the worst principals a woman could possibly have, ma sed, and I sed, Hay ma, can I have one of those little cakes Nora jest made, ma?

Wat, Im bizzzy, don't bother me now, and another thing, hawd, I've herd it sed that that persin we are tawking about owes a good deal of money, ma sed, and I sed, Well G, ma, cant I even have jest one?

O, yes, yes, that is if Nora says so, ma sed. Being a heck of a thing to add on, and I went back to the kitchen, and Nora was in sweeping the floor, looking pritty bizzzy herself, and I thart, G, maybe she mite say yes jest to get rid of me, and I sed, Hay Nora.

Don't hay me, go on about your bizness, Nora sed, and I sed, Well ma sed to ask you if I could have a cake.
Well, youve asked me, havent you? Nora sed.

Meaning that was all the saddisfaction I was going to get out of it. And she kepp on sweeping, saying, Now clear out of heer, you see Im bizzzy, don't you? and I sed, Well hokay smokes, the cakes are properly tuff enyways, so I should worry.

And I hurry up ran before she had a chance to think of anything else to say or do anything violent.

Your Income Tax

This is one of a series of articles, based on the revenue act of 1926, written by the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue.

No. 22

To compute the amount of depreciation which may be claimed, a taxpayer should determine the probable life of the property, then divide by the number of years it will be usable in the business in which employed. The result thus obtained will represent the amount which may be claimed as a deduction. For example, a frame building, the probable lifetime of which is 25 years, cost $5,000. Divide $5,000 by 25 and claim $200 each year as a deduction.

The value to be cared for by depreciation is the cost of the property, if acquired by purchase after February 23, 1913. If acquired by purchase prior to that date the value basis is the cost of the property or its fair market value as of March 1, 1913, whichever is greater.

Depreciation of a home or property used for pleasure or convenience, such as an automobile, can not be claimed.

Depreciation due to changes in the social or business conditions of a neighborhood, or changes of street grade, or fluctuations of market values, can not be claimed.

Depreciation of land, whether improved or unimproved, can not be claimed.

When in the course of years the owner of property has claimed its cost as depreciation, no further claim will be allowed.

INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,000 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $3,500, or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns. WHEN? The filing period ends March 15, 1927.

WHERE? Collectors of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Instructions on Forms 1040A and 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? One and one-half per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemptions and credits. Three per cent normal tax on the next $4,000. Five per cent normal tax on the balance of net income. Surtax on net income in excess of $10,000.

Depreciation does not apply to inventories or stock in trade. The potential earning capacity of an individual, his inventive genius, or his literary ability may not be made the basis of an allowance for depreciation.

A Defense of Weather

Kansas City Star

Speaking of weather—and who isn't?—it was one of Mark Twain's justly celebrated observations that everybody complained about the weather, but no one seemed to do anything about it. It's a good thing no one does. If anyone did, he would probably deprive us of one of our greatest democratizing influences. It is our contention that weather, using the term in a broad, general, all-embracing sense, is one of the greatest boons ever conferred upon mankind. We are in favor of weather. It has given us a communal interest, a topic for conversation upon which everyone has certain definite and fixed opinions, which he has no hesitancy in voicing.

Only a few of us look eye to eye upon such matters as art, literature and how to make strawberry shortcake, but when it comes to weather all mankind meets on a common ground. Rich or poor, educated, illiterate and intermediate, we all can appreciate weather. There's something about it, especially cold weather, that strikes all of us, as you might say, in the same manner—and, judging from the postures assumed about the radiator by the incoming office force, in about the same spot. Of Chopin's spirituality as expressed in his prelude in A flat we know little and care less. Politics doesn't interest us. Neither does art. All we know is that it's cold enough to freeze the whiskers off a brass monkey and there's no street car in sight.

Mankind really owes quite a bit to weather. It is one thing that has been absolutely free. Let's give it a big hand! It has kept mankind talking a million years, is always pertinent, and, as a conversational bugle, hasn't cost a cent!

Football Scholarships

New York World

The revelations made by Dr. Homer E. Wark, president of West Virginia Wesleyan college, in regard to considerations given to football players are of interest chiefly because they reflect a condition widespread among the smaller colleges. That place has 30 teachers and 350 students. Dr. Wark, one judges, has only recently become president. And when he took command he found that he was confronted by a football problem that had to be solved before any others could be tackled at all.

The players, in all essential respects, were hired. They did not receive money, but they received tuition, room rent, books, food, remission of fees, etc., to the amount of $500 a year apiece. Thus, in so small a place a heavy burden was placed on the exchequer. Enough to pay a professor or two was involved in the arrangement, and in addition, scholastic standards must have suffered, and the shadow of athletic cast all over the campus. So now he appeals to the alumni for support of a program to clean house.

Will he get it? That remains to be seen. One recalls an identical situation recently, at a Maryland college, where the president found that he simply could not balance his books with the onus of a hired football team around his neck. So the hired team went. But before it went there was such a battle with those alumni who boasted

Pedro Elephant

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS.

EVERY mother knows that no two children can be treated in exactly the same way. The method most successful with one may be a total failure with another. For instance in the case of children who aren't interested in eating or have aversions to food. One can be starved into eating; one can be successfully ignored till he eats; one can be won by good example; while another can be made to eat by drawing his attention from the food to something more interesting as in the case of Ann who had a pet toy elephant which professed great interest in the bottoms of empty bowls and cups. It would wait patiently on the floor near her high chair till her food was gone and then come scampering joyfully to view the empty dishes. How Jane did eat to please that elephant!

AT dinner my elephant,

My nice Pedro Elephant,
Sits waiting around on the floor by my feet.
He snorts, "Hurry up there, Ann,
So when I climb up I can See all of your dishes cleaned up nice and neat."

So all of my spinach nice,
My bright yellow carrot dice,
I pile on my fork, and I gobble them up.
I eat all the crumbs up clean,
My cookie and pink ice cream,
And I drink every drop of the milk in my cup.

And then when my elephant,
My nice Pedro Elephant,
Comes scrambling along up the leg of my chair,
He dances with all his might
And squeals out his great delight
To see the clean bottoms of bowls I have there!
